PARIS, April 11.—The Reparation Commission today officially approved the report submitted to it by the experts' committee Wednesday on the German reparation question.

The recommendation of the commission is that the report be approved conditional upon the acceptance of it by Germany. The commission was unanimous in registering its approval.

The decision, says a Havas statement, was that the report offered a practicable basis for the settlement of the reparation problem.

The Reparation Commission will hear the German representatives regarding the report on Thursday, April 17. An official declaration by the commission signed by Louis Barthou, its president, accepting the experts' report, was issued this evening.

Statement by Commission.

Following is the statement issued by the reparation commission:

"The Reparation Commission, presided over by M. Barthou, unanimously adopted the following:

"The Reparation Commission, having taken cognizance of the experts' report, considers they offer a practical basis for a rapid solution of the reparation problem. Thus the commission disposes without delay, and within the limits of its powers, approves of the conclusions and adopts the methods thereof.

"In order to facilitate and hasten the putting into execution of the experts' program, the commission proposes to recommend that the Governments interested in the conclusions in these reports adopt the conclusions thereof immediately. The Reparation Commission, however, is placed under the obligation of reserving this appropriation and these initiatives until such time as the Government of the Reich is ready to ensure its collaboration to the experts' program.

"To this purpose the commission will hear on Thursday, April 17, the delegates of the German Government, unless that Government prefers sending a written reply."

PARIS, April 11.—France apparently has decided to accept the experts' report on reparation. She even indicates a willingness to give up exploitation of the Ruhr the moment the Dawes plan goes into effect. There is no official statement to that effect, but public opinion is being prepared.

France wants first to see what kind Germany will take and what chances the reparation loan has in America. One hundred million dollars, half the total of the loan, is the portion hoped for from the United States.

The experts would like to get rapid action on the report and on the loan. They fear something may happen to the rearmament if action is delayed until after the German and French elections next month, and their plan is based on the German situation as it exists today.

Premier Poincaré also is eager for rapid action on the report and on the loan.

GOES WITHOUT SLEEP 59 DAYS IN EXPERIMENT ON AN UNCONSCIOUS MIND

LOS ANGELES, April 11.

R. WILLIAM F. KELLY, Los Angeles physician, was enjoying an undisturbed slumber today after a series of physiological experiments which, he said, kept him awake almost continuously for 59 days. "The principal object of the experiment," he explained, "just before turning in last night for a sound sleep, was for the subject to get on the threshold of unconsciousness right at the point where one is about to doze off to sleep and then to tell observers what is going on in his mind."

MILLION-FRANC RUBENS FOUND IN FRENCH ATTIC

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 11.—A Rubens valued at more than a million francs has been discovered among 15 old canvases purchased for a few hundred francs by an antiquary at Roubaix, according to the Petit Parisien correspondent there.

The pictures were inherited by a local man from his great-uncle, Henri Robelin, auctioneer for the famous Drouot Sale room in Paris during the reign of Napoleon III. He thought them valueless, stowed them away in a corner of the attic and forgot them. Recently they were resurrected and offered to M. Agre, a local antique dealer, who took them for a small price.

Looking them over with an artist friend, he was struck by a tiny picture, 10 inches by 7, which looked like a Rubens. "I cleaned it carefully and was astonished to find the signature 'P. P. Rubens.' An authority in Brussels said it was genuine."

MATRIMONIAL BONDS LOOSED SIXTH TIME FOR WOMAN

Husband No. 6 Awarded Divorce by Default, on Desecration Charge.

A decree of divorce by default, granted yesterday to Joseph E. Hill, 2148 Olive street, was the sixth instance in which the bonds of matrimony were similarly loosened for his wife, Alma.

Hill, in his testimony, said he knew little about any of the five previous husbands of his wife beyond that the name of the last one was Smith. Since they were married, in July, 1923, Hill said, he was desecrated six times, leaving him finally on Feb. 29, last, when she advised him, by letter, that there was somebody in Memphis for whom she cared more than she did for him.

Hill himself has been divorced once, he testified. "But then," he pointed out, "I am over 40 years old, while my wife is only 32."

NEW YORK, April 11.—A leaky roof has caused such sensational changes in the configuration of the heavens as they appear on the ceiling of the Grand Central Terminal that the directors of the New York Central Railway have been considering the creation at great expense of a new and more authentic sky. Robert Winthrop Chanler, artist, has submitted designs for a new arrangement of the stars, which are painted on an expanse of ceiling about two blocks in area. Moss and mildew have sketched in many unknown comets and a new series of constellations. The blue sky had been invaded by patches of white, black and green.

SAALI COMFORTS ERRING WIFE, WHO GETS 15 YEARS

Husband Appears Stunned by Verdict Convicting Woman of Part in Attempt on His Life.

"I DIDN'T DO IT," DEFENDANT SHRIEKS

Ora Thoele, Who Gave Damaging Testimony, Gets "Razzing" From Prisoners in Same Cell.

Angie Saali didn't go back to her husband, their five small children and the Saali farm near Portage des Sioux. Instead, she was led, half carried, a pitiable, sobbing figure, back to her cell in the St. Charles County Jail with two words ringing in her ears:

"Fifteen years."

The jury of middle-aged men, all married but one, brought in the verdict late yesterday afternoon, adjudging her guilty of conspiring with Ora Thoele to do away with her husband, and assessing the punishment, after deliberating 90 minutes.

The judge read the jury's verdict in firm tones. As he concluded there was a hushed stillness in the half-filled courtroom, broken by a shriek and a sob from the defendant. Peter Saali, the forgiving husband, sitting at her side, appeared stunned. Marie, the 9-year-old and eldest child—the note saali—wondered what it was all about.

Child Comforts Mother.

But it was Marie, sitting in her father's lap—Marie, who has been the "little mother" to her three younger sisters and 26-month-old brother, since the day Peter Saali was "fished out of the farmyard well"—who first comprehended. She rushed into her mother's arms. The arms of the husband and father encircled both.

Then the judge ordered the Sheriff to take charge of the prisoner. The courtroom was cleared and Mrs. Saali was led away. Again looked in her cell the woman, whose mentality was referred to by her attorney as that of a child, who admitted her transgression as an erring wife but stoutly insisted she had no part in the attempt to murder her husband: this woman, who suddenly appeared to realize that she was not to go back to her husband, children and home, but must instead go to the penitentiary for a long term of years, became raving.

For two hours, she shrieked and sobbed and screamed. Again and again she beat her fists on the pillow of the cell, walked the floor wringing her hands, and screaming, "I didn't do it! I didn't do it!"

Thoele Gets "Razzing."

Downstairs in another cell sat Ora Thoele, co-conspirator, brought back from the penitentiary to tell on the witness stand of his "goings on" with Angie Saali, the man who testified in great detail how he clubbed his neighbor over the head and which his neighbor's wife dumped his victim into his own well; the man whose testimony, more than that of anyone else, had brought about "a term for her too."

He sat in a cell with three other prisoners—all, curiously enough, sentenced for sex crimes—one for alleged mistreatment of a 12-year-old stepdaughter, the other two for crimes against a young girl. With such companions' telling sentences with that of Thoele, totaling 80 years—Ora might have expected sympathetic consideration. But he didn't get it. Instead, he got a "razzing" not alone in the form of jeering remarks. In the end, the trio of prisoners, led by a "trusty" bootlegger, doing an 18 months' term as a Federal prisoner, began a song, with which they tried to drown out the din caused by the hysterical woman prisoner on the upper floor. The refrain of the chant was "For he dumped Peter Saali in the well."

She Blames Thoele.

When Mrs. Saali, exhausted, finally became composed and partook of some food, the commotion in the jail ceased. To a Post-Dispatch reporter she confided her belief that Thoele had led her to go to the penitentiary, so she couldn't "go back to Pete." She said that she had received word in WASHINGTON, April 11.—Japan has lodged with the State Department a blistering protest against proposals in Congress to apply further drastic restrictions to Japanese immigration to the United States.

In a note reaffirming and reducing to concrete terms for the first time the famous "gentlemen's agreement," the Japanese Ambassador advised this Government that the exclusion proposals now pending appeared to involve the "good faith" of the Government at Tokyo.

JAPAN VIGOROUSLY PROTESTS AGAINST NEW ALIEN ACT

"Grave Consequences on Otherwise Beneficial Relations" Would Result, Hanihara Warns.

SAYS QUESTION OF HONOR IS INVOLVED

Exchange Between Ambassador and Hughes Puts "Gentlemen's Agreement" in Precise Terms.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Japan has lodged with the State Department a blistering protest against proposals in Congress to apply further drastic restrictions to Japanese immigration to the United States.

In a note reaffirming and reducing to concrete terms for the first time the famous "gentlemen's agreement," the Japanese Ambassador advised this Government that the exclusion proposals now pending appeared to involve the "good faith" of the Government at Tokyo.

"Phrases of unusual force in diplomacy were contained in the note, immediately forwarded by Secretary Hughes to the Senate just as it was approaching the end of its debate on the immigration bill.

The protest was aimed particularly at the proposal to exclude all aliens who never can become American citizens—a trust which the Ambassador said was manifestly aimed at Japan. He declared enactment of such a law would "seriously offend the just pride" of the Japanese nation, and that the "grave consequences" should be considered carefully before action was taken.

Causes Stir Among Senators.

A copy of the note, reaching the Senate just as it was convening, caused a decided stir among Senators. It was passed around and talked over in many consultations. The effect on the pending legislation could not be immediately assessed.

Heretofore the international understanding between Washington and Tokyo on the subject has been based on a long succession of changes and precedents, and the exact terms of the "agreement" never have been reduced to precise form.

Drastic Exclusion Opposed.

In reaffirming the principle of the "agreement," the Japanese Ambassador, in Secretary Hughes' letter, charged by Pacific Coast Senators that the understanding has not been observed scrupulously. It was asserted that Japan was willing to continue the arrangement in force, with full promises of its observance, but would look with serious doubt upon proposals for a more drastic exclusion provision.

Hughes, in reply, said the Ambassador's statement of the essential points in the "gentlemen's agreement" corresponded with his own understanding of the arrangement.

The Ambassador expressed hope that full consideration would be given to the "grave consequences" which the proposed exclusion clause in the immigration bill would bring "on otherwise happy and beneficial relations" between the two nations.

The proposed exclusion would not only "seriously offend the pride of this nation," the letter said, but would "involve the question of good faith and therefore honor."

Ambassador Hanihara said his Government would be willing to enter negotiations looking to modification or change of the "agreement" if that seemed necessary.

"Stigmatizing Japanese Nation."

The manifest object of the said section "is to single out Japan as a nation, stigmatizing them as a nation, and undesirable in the eyes of the American people. And yet, the actual result, if the proposed bill becomes law as intended, would be to exclude only 148 Japanese per year."

"On the other hand, the agreement is, in fact, accomplishing all that can be accomplished by the proposed exclusion laws, except for those 148."

It is difficult to believe that it can be the intention of the people of your great country, who always stand for high principles,

Two men who held up the offices of the Security Realty Co., 2941 Dayton street, at 11 o'clock this morning, escaped with rent money and frightened a girl employee into hysteria.

The employee, Miss Frieda Hyman, 16 years old, of 2053 Sheridan avenue, was in such a hysterical condition after the robbers' visit that she was removed to city hospital for treatment. She was unable to tell how much money had been taken, but reporters were told by others that it was "less than $500."

Miss Hyman, a daughter of Maurice Hyman, head of the realty company, is employed as stenographer. She was alone in the office when the two armed men entered and committed the holdup.

PROTESTS AGAINST USE OF HENNEY IN REVENUE INQUIRY

Duty of Executive to Resist Unwarranted Intrusion, He Says in Message.

CONDUCT OF COMMITTEE DENOUNCED AS ILLEGAL

Secretary of Treasury in Letter to Coolidge Suggests Couzens Seeks to Vent Personal Grievance; 'Time to Return to Law,' Says President.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—President Coolidge told the Senate today in emphatic terms that it was time to return to a government "under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land."

Transmitting a protest from Secretary Mellon against actions of the Senate Committee investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau, the President said the "state of the union" demanded that the Senate remain within its constitutional rights in conducting its inquiries.

Mellon told the President that the employment of Francis J. Heney at the personal expense of Senator Couzens (Rep.) of Michigan as a committee counsel had proven that that investigation had ceased to be in the public interest and that it now was acting as a morale-breaker in the Treasury.

Continued interference with the proper exercise of his duty, Mellon said, would bring him to the point where neither he "nor any other man of character can longer take responsibility for the Treasury."

Referring to the action of the committee investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau, President Coolidge said under such procedure the constitutional guarantees against search and seizure, and the rules of evidence are ignored, the department becomes the victim of vague, unfounded and indefinite charges "and instead of a Government of laws we have a Government of lawlessness."

Employment of Heney was declared by the President to be in conflict with law and a procedure likely to throw the Government into disorder.

"It is time that we return to a government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land," the President said. "The state of the union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

President's Message.

The President's message, addressed to the Senate, said:

"Herewith is a copy of a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, Hon. Andrew W. Mellon, to me, which I feel constrained to transmit to the Senate for its information. Also a copy of the resolution adopted by the committee investigating the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This is done because it seems incredible that the Senate of the United States would knowingly approve the past and proposed conduct of one of its committees, which this letter reveals."

"There exists, and always should exist, every possible remedy against the executive departments and the Senate. Whatever may be necessary for the information of the Senate or any of its committees, in order better to enable them to perform their legislative or other constitutional functions, ought always to be furnished willingly and expeditiously by any department."

"The executive branch has nothing that it would wish to conceal from any legitimate inquiry on the part of the Senate. But it is recognized both by law and by precedent that there is certain confi-

Constitutional Guarantees.

"Under a procedure of this kind the constitutional guarantees against search and seizure, and the prohibition against what amounts to a Government charge of criminal action without the formal presentment of a grand jury is evaded, the rules of evidence which have been adopted for the protection of the innocent are ignored, the department becomes the victim of vague, unfounded and indefinite charges, and instead of a Government of law we have a Government of lawlessness."

"Against the continuance of such a condition I enter my solemn protests, and give notice that in my opinion the departments ought not to be required to participate in it. If it is to be continued, if the Government is to be thrown into disorder by it, the responsibility for it must rest on those who are perpetrating it. It is time that we return to a Government under and in accordance with the usual forms of the law of the land. The state of the union requires the immediate adoption of such a course."

LAWYER TELLS OF OIL STOCK DEALS BY W. B. THOMPSON AND HIS LOANS TO G. O. P.

Testifies Former Republican Leader Sold Sinclair Shares Month of Teapot Dome Lease; $3,000,000 Loan "Nonpolitical."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Returning to its inquiry into possible oil company contributions to national political campaign funds, the Senate oil committee today sought information about a $3,000,000 loan made by the Chase National Bank in New York in 1919 to William Boyce Thompson, formerly chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee.

Declaring his client was too ill to appear, William Wallace Jr., attorney for Thompson, testified that the $3,000,000 loan was secured by 50,154 shares of Sinclair oil stock, but insisted it had nothing to do with the campaign. He said Thompson had no part in Republican financing until after the 1920 campaign and that the Chase bank loan was repaid in full in 1919.

The loan has been the subject of debate in the Senate.

The lawyer also read into the record a telegram from Thompson, who has been sought by committee subpoena servers for more than two weeks, saying he had been "wholly out of the Sinclair interests since 1921." Thompson was said to have failed to respond to the committee summons because he was confined to a sanitarium in Arizona.

Appearing voluntarily and speaking for his client, Wallace also declared that Thompson had borrowed large sums to wire out the Republican National Committee deficit after 1920.

Thompson made contributions to the Republican National Committee aggregating $2000, the witness said, and his company loaned the committee $150,000.

Oil Stock Investments. Wallace later testified that Thompson had invested in Sinclair stock in 1922, buying 450 shares on Jan. 13 and 1072 shares on Feb. 20, and selling the entire lot in April, 1923. This was the month in which Albert B. Fall loaned the Teapot Dome naval oil reserves to Sinclair. The witness was unable to give the exact day of the sale.

Reading from records, he affirmed that Thompson resigned as a director of the Sinclair companies in 1921. He testified that the New York financier never had any connection with the Mammoth Oil Co., organized to operate Teapot Dome, but he disclosed that after dissociating himself from the Sinclair companies, he invested in the Mutual Oil Co., which was put off Teapot Dome by murders in 1923. Thompson still has a holding interest in that company, the witness said.

John Smith, a Paris, Tex., business man, testified that Philip E. Baer, United States Marshal for the Eastern district of Texas, had told him of a talk he had with Jake Hamon in which the latter said he was to be Secretary of the Interior under President Harding and that Baer was to be Indian Commissioner.

James Sloane, formerly attached to the White House staff and later manager of the Washington brokerage office of Underleider & Co., testified about a visit to Oklahoma during the 1920 campaign, where he attended a dinner at which Hamon, Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer, R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman from Texas, and others were present.

Walsh took the examination back to Sloane's employment by the Republican National Committee. The witness said he first had been employed just before the Republican convention at Chicago. He arrived at the convention city on the day of the nomination, he said, and learned from newspaper men that morning that Harding was to be nominated during the day.

"Did you place any bets on the result?" asked Walsh. "No," Sloane said.

He was excused and the committee adjourned to Monday.

7500 Month Pay. Sloane also told of the visit of the Harding party to Point Isabel, Tex., after the election. He testified that after the trip Sloane was employed by the Republican National Committee at a salary of $7500 a month. From that position, he said, he was made manager of the Washington branch of Underleider & Co.

"While you were engaged in the brokerage business, did you do any business with public officials?" asked Senator Walsh. "Only what the books show."

"Do the books in every instance show the actual transactions and the name of the party?" Sloane was silent.

"There were no assumed names?" "Not that I know of."

"Did you solicit any officials of the Government to open an account?" "No."

Two Sinclair Firms Ask Court to Dismiss U. S. Complaint. CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 11.—Dismissal of the bill of complaint of the United States of America against the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Co. and the Sinclair Pipe Line Co. is sought in petitions filed by the two corporations in Federal Court in answer to the Government's suit against the Mammoth Oil Co. and these corporations for apportionment of the Teapot Dome oil reserve lease.

The answer of the Mammoth company, the chief defendant, has not been filed. The 30-day time limit set for its filing will expire April 14.

The answer of the purchasing company set forth that, relying on the rights of the Mammoth under its lease, the purchasing company "became the owner of 17 steel oil storage tanks, formerly situated on the site of the naval reserve."

The pipe line company alleges that it has spent, or will have spent, on competition of its pipe line, $15,000,000 and that it is entitled to a pumping plant, machinery and appurtenances and that this was done in faith that the Mammoth company's lease was valid.

New Story of Coolidge Nomination BY PAUL ANDERSON A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The first intimation that the nomination of Calvin Coolidge for the vice presidency was included in the alleged "deal" by which Mr. Harding's nomination for the presidency was accomplished, was contained today in the testimony of E. J. Costello, a newspaper man, before the Senate Oil Investigating Committee.

The intimation consisted solely of what he said the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil millionaire, told him at the Republican national convention in Chicago.

Costello, who was there as managing editor of the Federated Press, a labor news association, had previously worked for Hamon in Oklahoma, and knew him well, he said.

"I should explain," Costello continued, "that we of the labor press, and of the labor movement generally, had for many years regarded Albert B. Fall as a prime factor in stirring up trouble between this country and Mexico."

He said: "It's all fixed. Warren Harding will be the candidate for President, and Gov. Coolidge will be on the ticket for Vice President. Fall is going to be in the Cabinet."

"I said: 'What are you going to get out of it, Jake,' and he replied: 'I'll get something pretty good—probably a place in the Cabinet.'"

"I was particularly impressed by what he told me about Fall being in the Cabinet," the witness continued.

Having been in the interior, he knew Hamon's connection with several oil trade publications. I knew that oil men had been dissatisfied with President Wilson's Mexican policy. I knew, moreover, that they looked upon Fall as a man who would do things if he ever got in a position of power. I felt pretty sure that if he went into the Cabinet it would mean trouble with Mexico."

"Did you hear any other reports that day to the effect that Senator Harding was to be nominated?" inquired Senator Walsh. "Among the newspaper men there was a very definite rumor that a midnight conference had been held, and a deal pulled off by which Harding was to get the nomination. The rumor was merely to the effect that the oil bunch had got control of the convention and would dictate the nomination. It connected the steel crowd with the deal, too," was the reply.

Costello's testimony that Hamon told him several hours before the nomination that Coolidge had been picked as the vice presidential nominee, is in interesting contrast to the general impression that the nomination of Coolidge resulted from a last-minute stampede on the part of weary delegates. Whether any deeper significance will be attributed to it may depend upon whether any supporting evidence is produced.

DAUGHERTY BANK GETS COURT ORDER AGAINST INQUIRY

Restraint Issued by Ohio Probate Judge, Former Law Partner of Ex-Attorney-General.

BROOKHART INQUIRES INTO BANK'S ACTION

Records Refused to Senators and Notice Is Given of Proceedings for a Charge of Contempt.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Striking back at the Senate subcommittee here to investigate the records of M. S. Daugherty's bank, the Midland National Bank today served Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler as they sat with summons to appear in a civil suit of undeciphered character.

The summons gave notice that a restraining order had been issued against the committee in behalf of the bank, seeking to prevent inquiry into the bank's affairs.

The restraining order was issued in the Fayette County Common Pleas Court and served by Sheriff. It cited the Senators to appear on May 10.

The committee attempted to proceed, while agents sought to learn of the legal barrier to its proceedings. It called E. L. Bush, a Washington Court House business man, who refused to be sworn as a witness, at least until he had time to consider what answer he might make to questions.

He was not excused but let go. Chairman Brookhart observed, "that there may be somebody else before the bar of the Senate."

New Petition Filed. Joseph Hidy, a local lawyer, reported to the committee that a petition had been presented to the Court of Common Pleas, with Nye Gregg, a Probate Judge and former law partner of H. M. Daugherty, sitting on the bench.

Chairman Brookhart announced that the restraining order had been issued by a Judge of a court of limited jurisdiction, sitting in another county, and that he would make it known to the committee.

Wheeler testified that no petition for a restraining order had been filed as required by law and that he had been unable to obtain a copy of the restraining order itself.

The committee's first action was to issue subpoenas for M. S. Daugherty, H. E. Daugherty, cashier of the Midland Bank; Willis Cawley, associate of the late Jesse Smith, and Vera Veal, an employee of the Midland National Bank.

The refusal was final, the attorneys said, and Chairman Brookhart notified them that proceedings were being taken to compel the production of certified records in the case of the bank officials. Miss Veal, Chairman Brookhart said, would be immediately executed if M. S. Daugherty responded to the summons.

DEATH FOR SHERIFF'S SLAYER

Mexico (Mo.) Jury Sentences Negro to Die for Murder.

MEXICO, Mo., April 11.—James Crump, negro, was sentenced to be hanged in a jury verdict returned this afternoon. Crump was charged with the killing of Chalmers Blum, Sheriff of Audrain County, Feb. 10. The defense immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

Louisiana Slayer Executed. HOMER, La., April 11.—James Marshall Alexander, who escaped to Australia after killing W. F. Rogers in the Haynesville oil field two years ago, only to be arrested in San Francisco when he returned to this country, was hanged in the Claiborne Parish jail here today for the crime.

Phelon said he had noted several large certificates of deposit in the Midland Bank. One to a total of $38,000, he thought, was made out to H. M. Daugherty. Another was for $40,000.

"I was prevented from checking the names," he said, "of M. S. Daugherty." Phelon went on:

"Was there anything else unusual about the bank?" Senator Wheeler asked Phelon.

The striking thing was the size of the deposits. "One for $50,000, cancelled, certificates aggregated over $100,000, and H. M. Daugherty's name was credited with $75,000 of the total."

Other certificates were for $63,000 bore the name of Jesse Smith," Phelon said, and was marked "Liberty bonds."

"One for $50,000, cancelled, credited to M. S. Daugherty, was also marked 'Liberty bonds.' On several certificates for various amounts, Phelon went on, he found the name of J. E. Grey, he said he could not identify the man in the community. Four of them for $5000 were cancelled and "indorsed" by H. M. Daugherty.

R. G. May, of Washington, Court House, was called by Wheeler. He said that he had never known in his 35 years of residence in the city any person named "J. E. Grey," he was excused.

Chairman Brookhart ordered subpoenas issued for officials of the commercial bank of Morris Sharpe & Co., another Washington Court House financial institution, said to be associated in business with the Midland Bank.

The subcommittee directing the Daugherty investigation, consisting of Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler, arrived here today shortly before noon.

Former Attorney-General Daugherty, who came to Ohio on the same train as Daugherty, said he had been in the city any person named "J. E. Grey," he was excused.

of justice and fair play in the intercourse of nations, to resort—in order to secure the annual exclusion of 146 Japanese—to a measure which would not only seriously offend the just pride of a friendly nation, that has been always earnest and diligent in its efforts to preserve the friendship of your people, but would also seem to involve the question of the good faith and therefore of the honor of the Government. It is at least of its executive branch.

"The Japanese Government accepted the definition of 'laborer' as given in the United States executive order of April 8, 1907."

"(2) Passports are to be issued by a limited number of specially authorized officials only, under close supervision of the Foreign Office, which has the supreme control of the matter and is equipped with the necessary staff for the administration of it. These officials shall make thorough investigation when application for passports is made by students, merchants, tourists, or the like, to ascertain whether the applicant is likely to become a laborer, and shall enforce the requirement that such person shall either be supplied with adequate means to insure the permanence of his status as such or that surely be given therefor. In case of any doubt as to whether such applicant is or is not entitled to a passport, the matter shall be referred to the Foreign Office for decision."

"Passports to laborers previously domiciled in the United States will be issued only upon production of certificate from Japanese consular officers in the United States, and officers in the United States, and children of such laborers will be issued only upon production of such consular certificate and of a duly certified copy of the official record of the Japanese Government, showing that the Japanese Government voluntarily undertook to adopt and enforce certain administrative measures designed to check the emigration to the United States of Japanese laborers. It is in no way intended as a restriction on the sovereign right of the United States to regulate immigration, but is shown by the fact that the existing immigration act of 1917, for instance, is applied to Japanese as are other aliens."

"It was because of the fact that discriminatory immigration legislation on the part of the United States would naturally wound the national susceptibilities of the Japanese people that, after thorough and most friendly and frank discussions between the two governments, the gentlemen's agreement was made for the purpose of relieving the United States of the possible unfortunate necessity of offending the natural pride of a friendly nation."

The Japanese Government have most scrupulously and faithfully carried out the terms of the agreement, as a self-imposed restriction, and are fully prepared to continue to do so, as officially announced at the time of the conclusion of this present treaty of commerce and navigation between Japan and the United States. In return, the Japanese Government confidently trust that the United States Government will reciprocally refrain from resorting to a measure that would seriously wound the proper susceptibilities of the Japanese nation."

"(1) The Japanese Government will not issue passports good for the continental United States to laborers, skilled or unskilled, except those previously domiciled in the United States, or parents, wives, or children, under 20 years of age of such persons."

The form of the passport is so designed as to omit no safeguard against forgery and its issuance is governed by various rules of detail in order to prevent fraud."

STATE TO DEMAND $50,000 ON BOND OF HOLLAND BANK

Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York Will Be Asked to Pay the Indemnity Against Dishonesty.

IDENTITY OF PERSONS INVOLVED WITHHELD

Springfield Financier Tells How City's Gossips Talked Depositors Out of $1,190,000.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 11.—The State Department of Finance within a few days will make formal demand upon the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York for payment of the full face value of a surety bond of $50,000 in which that company agreed to indemnify the Holland Banking Co. against dishonest acts of its employees, it was learned today.

Roscoe C. Patterson of Springfield, special counsel for the department, declined to discuss the plan or to answer any questions concerning the matter, but it is known authoritatively that papers are being prepared for service upon the Fidelity and Casualty company, and that the company has been examined and the transactions of the Holland Banking Co. are being reviewed.

The bond in question, which was made Aug. 8, 1923, and the terms of which assume liability under previous bonds made by the same company, contains a provision that it will reimburse the bank up to $50,000 for loss through any dishonest act of any of the employees wherever committed and whether directly or by collusion with others. The company has been held by attorneys who have examined it to cover all of the officers and employees, from president to janitor. It could not be learned whether the company has been held by the department in the claim. Officers of the bank have asserted that, so far as they know, no wrong has been committed.

Gossips Annulled Deal.

How certain citizens of Springfield talked the depositors of the Holland Banking Co. out of $1,190,000 was told to the Post-Dispatch today by John Landers, age 42, a former Holland Banking Co. employee and a resident of Springfield, who, with his son, D. J. Landers, at first offered to buy the bank and guarantee depositors 75 cents on the dollar.

Forty cents on the dollar is arranged to them under the arrangement by which the McDonald National Bank of Springfield will take over securities of the Holland. This, instead of getting $2,400,000, immediately, as would have been the case under the McDonald plan, they are sure of $1,190,000, with understanding that they will get more if slow and doubtful assets of the bank can be turned into cash by liquidating officers of the State Department of Finance.

"When Commissioner Millsaps asked my son and me to take over the Holland, we went over the notes one night and offered 75 cents on the dollar," said Landers.

"$20,000 of Poor Stuff." We told the Commissioner and others who were there that there was $20,000 of poor stuff there. They laughed at us, but later the audit justified our judgment.

"Doug (D. J. Landers) went to St. Louis and Kansas City and was promised all the money we asked for and more. The bank then was a going concern. It hadn't been closed long and we were going to reopen it. But a lot of fellows around here, who were jealous and who thought maybe we would make some money, began to talk that the bank could pay 100 cents on the dollar. I didn't propose to have them talking that way about me, so I called off the deal. You see where they got the rest of the depositors.

The bank has been closed three months now and its staff is not working. I didn't propose to have them talking that way about me, so I called off the deal. You see where they got the rest of the depositors.

Grand Jury Inquiry Ordered. No arrests have been asked for yet in connection with failure of the Holland and Prosecuting Attorney Harold Lincoln said today that he probably no steps of that sort will be considered until later. It became known yesterday, as told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch, that Judge Owen Patterson in the Criminal Court of Greene County has ordered a grand jury impaneled for April 21. The judge and court officials have refused to discuss the matter, having gone to consular office to see the Chinese consul.

The department of finance, for example, has been compelled to take over a clothing store, a mill and other business, this nature of which has not been disclosed, and has been important to take charge of an orchard. Financing of these ventures was extensively enmeshed in the affairs of the Holland.

Citizens Forced to Raise Funds. Citizens of one small county seat town not far from Springfield, the town of Rhineland and Ruhr as laid down in the Versailles treaty. Every German Government must reject an agreement that does not assume complete unity of the Reich. The experts report is purely economic and is designed to be accepted as a whole. But for us, the economic phase cannot be separated from the political. Every German Government must insist on freedom for prisoners in the Ruhr and for return of those deported. Solution of the question of payment without solution of political problems cannot be considered.

An attorney here told of a Springfield business man who had $25,000 on deposit in the Holland and who had borrowed about that much. He had planned for his deposit to offset the notes. But the other day he discovered that his notes had been sold to a bank in the East, which can force payment of their face and interest, while he stands to get 40 per cent of his $25,000 deposit, plus his proportionate share of whatever salvage can be obtained by the liquidating officer from slow securities.

Another attorney has been sought by a widow, 80 years old, to try to collect $5000 which she had sent from a small town near Springfield to the Holland bank with instructions to invest for her in Treasury certificates. She said she received a reply that the certificates could not be at the time he obtained, but that the bank had placed her money on deposit at 4 per cent until such time as it could get the certificates, which pay 4 1/2 per cent. It was still on deposit the day the bank closed. The money, she said, represents her entire competence, and if she receives only 40 per cent, as a regular depositor, she may be forced into trying circumstances.

Throughout the trial he was in constant attendance, and yesterday, when the defense began the introduction of testimony, he insisted upon taking a seat at her side. As Attorney Higginbotham, her counsel, in plea for extension, quoted the Master's words, "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone," he pointed to the husband as an example of the Christ-like teaching of forgiveness. "Restore this woman to her husband, who publicly manifests his love and affection for the mother of these five children," he urged.

In the course of the trial, Attorney Higginbotham entered objections to the introduction of testimony and argument relating to the assault other than that specified in the information, which covered only the clubbing, and to the appearance of a witness on the grounds he was a self-confessed convict and thus "legally dead." On these grounds he saved exceptions, when overruled, and indicated he probably would appeal.

He was retained by Mrs. Saali's father, Albert Stuckey, a well-to-do St. Charles County farmer.

ious lest the reactionaries take "enslavement" as their campaign cry. The organs of the Extreme Right already have done so.

This Germany is still saying yes and no to the report. She does not expect to be called on for an answer before the May 4 elections.

But the parties that will contest the election already have begun to divide on the questions. The Socialists, through Vorwarts, their organ, declare the advantages of the plan outweigh the flaws. The Democrats, in the Tageblatt, consider that the experts have overburdened the Reich, but accept the report as a basis for negotiations.

The People's party is highly critical, but reflects the industrialists' fundamental desire for the easiest possible solution. The reactionaries and communists reject the plan with scorn.

Herr Jarres, one of the most influential members of the Cabinet and himself a native of the Ruhr, declares: "The report is well constructed and the foundation for negotiations. But in details it goes way beyond what is possible for Germany. The annual sums demanded are out of the question. I also do not believe Germany can bear the payments asked during the supposed moratorium."

"Further, I miss in the report the return of state sovereignty to the Rhineland and Ruhr as laid down in the Versailles treaty. Every German Government must reject an agreement that does not assume complete unity of the Reich. The experts report is purely economic and is designed to be accepted as a whole. But for us, the economic phase cannot be separated from the political. Every German Government must insist on freedom for prisoners in the Ruhr and for return of those deported. CHINESE SCHOOL HERE FOR CHINESE CHILDREN

Pupils Born in U. S. Who First Learned to Speak and Think in English.

The children of St. Louis Chinatown are drifting from the ways of their ancestors. Born in St. Louis and attending American schools, most of them never have learned to draw the Chinese characters and can speak only the rudimentary language which they have learned from their parents. Instead, they are learning to think and speak in English.

But this condition is to be remedied, and yesterday, in a second-floor room at 20 South Eighth street, the headquarters of the Chinese National League, a Chinese school for Chinese children was opened. There each afternoon, after the public school is closed, the yellow-skinned children will go to pore over a Chinese primer.

The opening day was sort of a holiday for the Chinese children. Most of them came down from the Madison Public School and, after dinner, ran over to the schoolroom with an insatiable curiosity—just like American children. They probed into the mysteries of the new oak desks and leafed through while in a mixture of Chinese and English.

First Such Enterprise Here. The school is organized by the parents of Chinatown along the lines of similar schools in other large cities where there are more Chinese. It is the first such school in St. Louis. The On Long Tong Association contributed money for furniture and the Nationalist League has loaned its room.

The desks and the bookcase and the blackboard are just like those in an American school, and the children—except for their slant eyes and yellow skins—look just the same. The primers begin with such simple words as "man," "dog," "hand," "foot," illustrated with the Chinese character beside, Eng Gee Timm is the teacher. He was a teacher in China schools, a missionary, and has taught in other American cities.

There were 12 children in class yesterday, but it is expected to grow. In all there are about 20 or 25 Chinese boys and girls, from 7 to 15 years old, who will go to the school, but many live in outlying districts and must get acquainted with the street car system.

Little Time for Play. Under the new plan of education there will be little time for play. Coming home from public school at 3:30 p. m. the children will eat dinner at home and then hurry to the Chinese school. There they will remain until 7 and then go home to supper. Longer classes are planned for Saturdays and Sunday afternoons, after church.

"We want their work in the public schools to come first," said Si Yung, eighth street merchant and moving spirit of the organization, "but we don't want them to grow up and not be able to do business with their own people or visit their parents in the country. We want them to be able to do business with their own people or visit their parents in the country. We want them to be able to do business with their own people or visit their parents in the country."

Insurance Premiums Show $10,642,218 Gain in State. Missourians Paid Out Total of $110,565,152 in 1923. Department Report Says.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—Missourians paid out a total of $110,565,152 during 1923 in net insurance premiums, an increase of $10,642,218 over 1922. The amount paid for insurance protection of all classes during 1922, the Insurance Department stated in a report compiled today.

Of the 1923 business of the department, 100 companies operating in the State, $30,442,182.01 of net premiums went to foreign insurance companies licensed to do business in the State. The remainder, $80,122,970.01, was paid to Missouri companies.

The foreign companies were required to pay a tax totaling $1,832,231.62. The Missouri companies being exempt.

The capital of the companies doing business in the State totals $8,542,467.67. Their surplus is $23,054,927.80 and their admitted assets $165,697,360.59. During 1923 payments to policy holders of all classes on claims totaled $27,880,184.86.

More than half of the premiums collected in the State went to legal reserve life insurance companies, which took in $60,520,215.51. Domestic fire insurance companies collected $17,822,898.22 and foreign fire insurance companies collected $4,734,699.23. Stock casualty companies were paid $14,825,931.92; mutual fire companies $1,007,593.27; reciprocal exchanges, $2,621,497; and fraternal benefit societies collected $7,044,233.91 from their members. The remaining premiums went to town mutual fire, mutual casualty, agreement and assessment life insurance companies.

Poincare Wants Quick Action on Experts' Report

for action. He hopes Germany will accept and that the Reparation Commission will agree to rectifying the machinery in action during the next few weeks. Then he can go to the polls on May 11 with a record of accomplishment.

The French semi-official attitude is best expressed by Auguste Gauvain in the Journal des Debats. He expressed hesitant acceptance of the plan, "filled with many rationalizations and some serious apprehensions."

The satisfaction as he views them are that the report believes France from the charge of internationalism, while accusing Germany of bad faith. The apprehension is that the possibility to impose sanctions is limited.

The newspaper, taking satisfaction from the statement that "Germany's had faith since 1912 is proclaimed to the world by the international experts," goes on to say France must not risk isolation by being too difficult to satisfy. She must be prepared to act with others.

"France," says Gauvain, "surrounded by countries more populous, fallen to a third-rate naval power, situated by international sides, would commit suicide in retreating to impose by force her solution upon the rest of the world. She enjoys still, despite regrettable errors, a great moral prestige, her vital interest obliges her to increase this kind of moral authority by a legal policy."

Power of Reparation Agent. Around Paris most of the discussion about the experts plan is given to the commission that will receive the reparation payments. An agent of the Reparation Commission, who with five other foreigners will receive German payments, is given such power that he is already called "King of the World." He will control international exchange, the market for bonds, even the growth of industries.

The experts are busy explaining. That is why the report in Part 13 asks that the Reparation Commission be given the right to fix reparation payments and another to let exchange go uncontrolled to "instability and disaster."

Most of the discussion in London and New York banks have important representatives in Paris. Their reports are expected to influence America's financial attitude.

Now that the rejection of the report in Germany permits the possibility of acceptance, France is preoccupied with the question of whether America will lend the necessary $100,000,000—America's rough allotment of the immediate German loan of $200,000,000 proposed in the plan.

Wants Preference Rate Deferred. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 11.—Chairman Hall of the Interstate Commerce Commission, today told the House Merchant Marine Committee that in his opinion it would be "highly desirable" to postpone enforcement of section 28 of the merchant marine act, which would give preferential rates to American goods shipped in American vessels.

Accident, Says Man Shot in Leg. By the Associated Press. Paul Kastanos, 53 years old, 116 South Sixth street, went to city hospital last night for treatment of a bullet wound in the left leg. He told police his friend, "Jim," had accidentally shot him while stuffing for possession of a revolver in front of his residence. He said he would not prosecute, even if "Jim" were found.

STORY OF GERMAN GIRL UNDER INQUIRY

She Tells Police of Paying for Her Importation Here Last September.

A police report on the importation into St. Louis of five German girls has been forwarded to the Federal immigration offices here for investigation by the Department of Justice.

The police connection with the case began at 9 o'clock Tuesday night, when one of the girls, Yonem, less and without funds, walked into the Magnolia Avenue Police Station and asked for shelter. Through an interpreter she identified herself as Miss Johanna Ott, 26 years old. She said she and four other girls were brought here from Germany last September by Henry Koch, 3662A Russell boulevard, who paid their expenses. She obtained employment as a housegirl at the home of Mrs. Otto L. Vonder Au, 3454 Halliday avenue, at $25 a month, out of which she has been reimbursing Koch to the extent of $30 a month, she said.

Miss Ott said she had been discharged Tuesday by Mrs. Vonder Au, and, although without funds, had not gone to Koch's home because he had forbidden her to do so. She received her last pay on March 15 and gave $15 of the $75 to Koch. Mrs. Vonder Au told police that Miss Ott had informed her she was going to seek other employment and was told she might leave at any time. In leaving, Miss Ott requested that $25 be which was due her as wages, be turned over by her employer to Koch and this was done that evening.

Koch, interviewed by police, admitted paying the girls' way into this country and signing their immigration bonds, also that he was being reimbursed for his expenses. He said he had not meant to enforce his order. Miss Ott was turned over to him by the police, pending word from the Federal authorities.

OWNER WEEPS AS DOGS DIE. Pennsylvania Law Requires Alien to Destroy Nine Animals. Special to the Post-Dispatch. DOYLESTOWN, Pa., April 11.—Joseph Franzen, an unnaturalized Austrian who was arrested and fined for having in his possession nine dogs on his farm, near Doylestown, Pa., was ordered by State Dogcatcher Leo L. Lynn to destroy them all. Aliens are forbidden to own dogs of firearms in Pennsylvania.

Justice of the Peace Hendrickson fined Franzen $15. He had already obtained licenses for the animals in anticipation of getting his final citizenship papers within a few days, he declared. The dogs, however, insisted the animals, would have to be destroyed.

DIVORCE SUIT AFTER HAIR BOB. Woman Says Husband Called Her Names When She Shortened Tresses. A suit alleged ground for divorce in a suit filed today by Helen J. West against Henry Wieman Jr., who lives between Black Jack and Spanish Lake, St. Louis County, is that her husband became angry and called her obscene names when she had her hair bobbed last May. Other allegations are that Wieman was jealous, nagged her and made her cook and bake for his parents although her health was poor. They were married in 1920 and separated Jan. 8.

Takes Poison in Theater. A woman giving her name as Beatrice West, 29 years old, attempted to end her life by swallowing poison in the women's restroom of the Criterion Theater, 207 North Broadway, yesterday. She was taken to the city hospital. She said she had been out of work.

74th Anniversary Sale of Imported Knitted Dresses

$35.00, $39.75, $59.75

CORRECT and practical for early Spring wear is the smart knitted outfit in gay, bright colors.

In one and two pieces in either silk, or silk and wool.

In plain colors and combinations of colors of poudre blue, all white, rust, lacquer red, Lanvin green and many other pretty high shades.

Smart Sports Suits

$25.00, $35.00, $49.75

Incomparably clever in detail—faultless in style—these correct Sports Suits stand out in true Vandervoort Fashion.

Materials of tweeds, stripes and checks, and fashioned on mannish sports lines.

Swagger Sports Coats

$19.75 to $95.00

THIS large collection of Coats includes models of all qualities—the higher priced ones having trimmings of fur, some even have clever applique of leather in fancy designs.

Materials of tweeds, camel's hair, flamingo, stripes, plaids and plain.

Colors in the season's most popular shades. Geranium, lacquer red, Lanvin green, gypsy red, artichoke, dove gray, tan, brown and many others.

Sports Apparel Shop—Second Floor.

74th Anniversary Sale of

Misses' Tailored Suits

$25.00

THIS popular priced Suit has proved a favorite among young girls who desire that slim silhouette of trim boyishness.

Comes in most any of the mannish effects popular this Spring—box coats, pinched waistline and fitted waistline—in the mannish materials of hairlines, twills and checked velours—in two and four button fastenings.

Colors—Black, Tan and Gray.

Sizes 14, 16 and 18.

Washable Silk Frocks

$16.95

These smart tub Frocks will be just the thing to wear on warm Summer days. They come in fashionable sports stripes in all of the popular shades of the season. Collars and cuffs of smartly tailored linen or self material. Stripes are both wide and narrow.

Georgette Party Frocks

$29.75 to $35.00

What could be more charming for Easter than a colorful Frock of airy Georgette?

Many new models have just arrived for that occasion—sleeveless little affairs trimmed with rows of creamy Valenciennes lace, bouffant skirts, some entirely of cream lace, others merely in rows of narrow lace.

The colors are adorable—peach, light green, flesh, yellow, orchid, white and many other pastel shades.

KANSAS CITY'S MAYOR-ELECT
WASHINGTON U. GRADUATE

Albert I. Beach is a Cousin of Chancellor Hadley—First G. O. P. Mayor in 14 Years.

Albert I. Beach, recently elected Mayor of Kansas City, is a graduate of the law school of Washington University, a first cousin of Chancellor Hadley, and for a short time studied law in the office of Morton Jourdan here. Beach, the second Republican Mayor in Kansas City in the last 14 years, received his L.L.B. degree from Washington University in 1907.

Like Chancellor Hadley, he is a native of Olathe, Kan. He has been active in Kansas City politics for some time and was formerly head of the upper house of the city legislative body there. He made his campaign principally upon the alleged extravagance of the Democratic administration under Mayor Frank S. Crowell, whom he defeated for the office. The women's vote was a strong factor in Beach's election.

CANDIDATE INDORSED BY K. K. K. DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF IT

Joseph L. Lampert of Alton declares his Opposition to Principles of Organization.

Joseph L. Lampert of Alton, candidate for election as district delegate to the Democratic National Convention, who was one of those indorsed by the East Side Ku Klux Klan on sample ballots distributed among klansmen, as was told in the Post-Dispatch last Monday, has written this paper declaring that he did not seek the indorsement, had not heard of it previously and disapproved of it. He declared further: "While I have no official knowledge of its workings, I am unalterably opposed to K. K. K. principles as proclaimed by the press. In fact, I consider them un-American and they are repugnant to my views of citizenship."

Germ That Blights Barley Found. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 11.—Discovery of a germ which blights vast crops of barley each year and causes great losses to farmers throughout the country, was reported to the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences yesterday. After a series of experiments, Dr. James A. Paris said he had isolated the germ, and it was predicted that effective means of destroying it soon would be found.

WIFE SLAYER ELECTROCUTED

Condemned Man Tried to Hang Self Before Being Led to Chair. OSSINING, N. Y., April 11.—Anthony Viandante, slayer of his wife, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night. He attempted to take his own life before he was led to the electric chair. He also threatened the life of the Rev. Father William C. Quinn, prison chaplain. A strong guard surrounded him as he was led to the death-house.

Woman Badly Hurt by Auto.

Miss Mamie Callahan, 40 years old, of 3424 Eads avenue, St. Louis, is in St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, in a serious condition from injuries suffered yesterday afternoon when struck by an automobile as she alighted from a street car at Ninth street and Broadway. She suffered fractures of four ribs and the left ankle and probable internal injuries. J. M. Brown, 42, a switchman, of Dupont, Ill., driver of the automobile, was arrested.

Old Timer Is Back

"My friends had all given up and never expected to see me around again," I had given up hoping myself, as no medicine touched my case. The doctors had tried everything. My food did not digest and I filled my days with worry. My doctor told me to try Scott's Emulsion. The first dose gave me wonderful relief and I am now as well as I ever was and my doctor says I am cured.

AIRPLANE REVISION OF MAP OF MISSOURI RIVER PLANNED

Army Engineer Announces Step to Be Taken in View of Passage of Newton Bill.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, April 11.—An airplane revision of the map of the Missouri River between Kansas City and the river mouth will be undertaken next week by Major C. C. Gee, army engineer in charge of Government work on the Missouri River.

The map revision will be a step in anticipation of passage of the Newton river improvement bill and will facilitate an early start on river improvement contemplated in the bill, Major Gee said. Major Gee said the changing course of the river makes a resurvey necessary. An area of 900 square miles will be photographed with a three-lens camera which takes three pictures simultaneously. Each flight will be high enough for photographing a strip 34 miles wide. The pictures thus taken will be assembled by overlapping so that no area will be left out. The cost of the revision will be less than $10,000 and will more than pay for itself in labor saved in checking map estimates, Major Gee declared.

Condemned Man Tried to Hang Self Before Being Led to Chair.

OSSINING, N. Y., April 11.—Anthony Viandante, slayer of his wife, was electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night. He attempted to take his own life before he was led to the electric chair. He also threatened the life of the Rev. Father William C. Quinn, prison chaplain. A strong guard surrounded him as he was led to the death-house.

Before being taken from his cell Viandante tore loose a thin wire from the spring of his cot and tried to hang himself. The wire broke and Viandante's only injury was a cut on his neck.

J. PORTER HENRY TO SEEK JONES' OFFICE

Clean Election League Head to Run for Prosecuting Attorney's Post.

J. Porter Henry of 509 Oakwood avenue, Webster Groves, former chairman of the Executive Committee of the Clean Election League, announced today that he would file his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, subject to the primary next August.

The announcement is taken as a repudiation of Prosecuting Attorney Adam Henry Jones, who was elected in the Clean Election League victory of 1922. Jones was a Democratic candidate, who was placed on the Clean Election slate to oppose Fred Mueller, former Prosecuting Attorney, a Republican, regarded as a machine man. Dissatisfaction with Jones' conduct of his office, particularly with delay in election fraud cases, has been expressed by various persons active in the county "clean up" movement.

Mueller's contest of Jones' election is still pending. Mueller is again a candidate for the Republican nomination. It is understood Jones has not planned to run again. Henry was a leader in the victorious campaign of the Clean Election League and was the league's legal representative in the fight for an independent ticket in the election. He has retained his membership on the league Executive Committee. He was graduated from Washington University law school in 1909, and since has been a member of the law firm of Judson, Green & Henry, Boatman's Bank Building. He is married and has two sons.

13 HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS

Federal Agents Seized $40,000 in Spurious Notes in East.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Simultaneous raids in New York, Bayport, Long Island and New Britain, Conn., by United States Secret Service men, resulted last night in the capture of a gang of alleged counterfeiters of 11 men and two women, and the seizure of $40,000 in spurious $20 Federal reserve notes. The arrests were made, the agents said, just as the band was about to circulate the counterfeit money. In addition to the notes seized the Federal agents also took a complete counterfeiting outfit, consisting of presses, plates and bleaching apparatus.

A BASKET LIQUOR PEDDLER

Man in Belleville Jail Said to Have Had Four Quarts on Arm.

George Reichert, a coal miner, living near Freeburg, Ill., was arrested yesterday by Marshal Truck and is in the Belleville jail under bond of $800 on a charge of peddling moonshine. Marshal Truck stated Reichert was caught peddling liquor from a chip basket. Four quarts of moonshine were found in his basket, it is said. Reichert gave the name of a man residing near Freeburg as the manufacturer of the liquor, but search by Sheriff Schnipper of the place mentioned availed nothing.

WORK FAVORS MOFFATT TUNNEL

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Secretary Work today tentatively approved an application of the Moffatt Tunnel Commission for a right-of-way over public lands for the construction of a tunnel through the continental divide, between Grand and Gilpin Counties, Colorado, to facilitate transportation between many sections of the West.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Millions Spent on Cosmetics in the U. S.

In the United States alone last year, $850,000,000.00 was spent on cosmetics while only $573,000,000.00 was spent for furniture.

Yet good furniture gives a lifetime of comfort and enjoyment. In the annual Spring clearance sale of the Pruffrock-Litton Furniture Co., Fourth and St. Charles, excellent sample suites of furniture are now generously reduced.

The commission plans to build a tunnel approximately 2200 feet above the sea level, with entrances near the headwaters of South Boulder Creek and the Frazier River, for use by standard gauge railroads, automobiles and other vehicles, and for transportation of power and water for telephone and telegraph lines. The tunnel, it was said, will open up for development rich timber, agriculture, grazing and mineral resources of Northwest Colorado, Southwest Wyoming and Northeast Utah.

Farmer Held in $12,000 Arson Plot
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 11.—Charles Dismour, a farmer of Bridgeport, Conn., is under arrest here on charges of arson and larceny. According to the Connecticut State police, Dismour is accused of having locked 243 of cattle in his barn and to have set fire to the barn. The cattle were burned to death and $12,000 insurance was collected. Dismour was arrested as he appeared at the general delivery window of the Pittsburgh postoffice. Dismour also is accused of having stolen a quantity of jewelry from the woman owning the farm.

MOVE TO PADLOCK
BUT ONE BAR
IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Legal Action to Close About 200 Saloons Under the Nuisance Clause to Be Instituted.

SPECIAL TREASURY AGENT ARRIVES

Defendants to Be Same as Those Named in Bench Warrants Based on Ku Klux Klan Affidavits.

Padlock injunction proceeding against approximately 200 East St. Louis saloons, seeking to close them for a year under nuisance provisions of the prohibition law, will be instituted as soon as petitions are prepared, L. F. Sumner, special representative of the United States Treasury Department, said today.

He arrived in East St. Louis tonight from Washington to take charge of the padlock litigation, and will be assisted by L. A. Roy, also of the Treasury Department, now in Chicago for several days. Sumner said a number of stenographers from the Washington offices of the department would be here today. He has arranged for offices for a month, expecting that time will be required in handling all detail incident to the proceeding.

Every saloon but one. Defendants in the padlock case will be the same as those named in bench warrants which have been issued during the last several weeks upon affidavits of paid investigators of the Ku Klux Klan. About $10 such bench warrants have been issued. A number of the defendants are named in two or more bench warrants.

Proprietors of one have been named in the bench warrants, L. Walcott, Assistant District Attorney, said today. This was the announcement that the Klan investigators had made. Affidavits they purchased liquor in every East St. Louis saloon but one. The exception is in the downtown district on Collinsville avenue.

The Klan investigators also went into other sections of St. Louis County and it is estimated that cases against 50 saloons kept outside of East St. Louis have been made, bringing the total to about 250 in the country.

Plan of Procedure. Padlocking by injunction of the 250 will be sought. The first step, if the court grants temporary injunction closing saloons for 20 days. Then the government will seek to have the injunction extended for a year.

The St. Clair County campaign is said to be the largest undertaken by the government. Only 47 temporary padlock injunctions were used as a result of the sensational campaign.

Bench warrants were yesterday against proprietors of Belleville saloons by Deputy United States Marshal Shepherd. The town keepers, as in all previous cases, were instructed to appear in East St. Louis today prepared to give bond.

THROUGH HEARS GIRL

Marion Talley Gives Recital at St. Louis City Convention Hall.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—Marion Talley, 17-year-old, charmed a large audience in Convention Hall last night. A girl with golden curls and amazing recent blue eyes, she sang with voice of a woman.

The scene in the vicinity of Convention Hall, when the admiring young prima donna was singing, was one seldom witnessed in Kansas City. Motor cars filled adjacent streets for blocks.

N. Derubert, conductor of the orchestra, tapped the music there was a hush. The Little phony orchestra played the tune and Miss Talley pushed her head through a rift in the green curtains. For five minutes the audience applauded as Talley walked to the front platform and bowed her appearance. She sang 10 numbers, including an aria from "Traviata," and sang from "Romeo and Juliet."

Marion Talley sang before the Grand Opera Company in New York last year. Four conductors have been astounded at her singing, but advised her not to be in public for three years. She is daughter of a railway telegrapher in Kansas City. Two thousand dollars for her musical education was raised at a Kansas City concert five years ago.

SHIP FOR STUDY TERRESTRIAL MAGNETISM

Human Builds Vessel for Scientific Study of Earth's Magnetic Field

Associated Press.
Ethiopia, April 11.—A ship will sail forth into the Atlantic this spring to investigate the influence of terrestrial magnetism on compasses. The ship, named the "Cecilia," is being built by the Carnegie Institution of Washington. It will be commanded by Dr. H. G. Oersted, a Danish physicist. The ship will be equipped with a powerful magnet to create artificial magnetic fields. It will also carry a large number of instruments for measuring the Earth's magnetic field. The ship will sail for a period of six months, during which time it will make several voyages into the Atlantic Ocean. The ship will be the first of its kind to be built for the purpose of studying terrestrial magnetism.

negle and the Galilee, which the Carnegie Institution of Washington constructed for the purpose of making a study on various occasions of the influence of magnetism on compasses. The Baltic is especially subject to magnetic disturbances. Its waters are comparatively shallow and its geography so well known that it is an especially interesting place to test magnetic influences. Germany, Sweden, Finland and Denmark all have designated scientists to accompany the expedition.

Beecher Coleman Begins Life Term.
Beecher Coleman served his first day of a life sentence for the murder of Albert Saenger, Webster Groves contractor, in the penitentiary yesterday. He was "dressed in" at Jefferson City Wednesday night. His counsel has indicated that prison officials will be asked to examine his mental condition to see if he is insane, as he pleaded at his trial. August Webber, Curkoo gangster, began a 10-year term for murder, and William Saunders, a negro, started a five-year term for obtaining money under false pretenses, at the same time.

American Fleet Leaves Philippines.
By the Associated Press.
MANILA, April 11.—The American Asiatic fleet departed yesterday from the Philippine waters for the summer. Some of the vessels will go to Japan, others to China and several to Indo-China. A number of destroyers are to be used in Japanese waters, the Yellow Sea and Bay of Bengal in connection with the American army's round-the-world flight.

Faked Gusher, Foreman Says
Testifies in Mail Fraud Trial He Threw Oil on Derrick.
By the Associated Press.
TEXARKANA, Ark., April 11.—

J. L. Fallon production foreman for Pat Marr at the time Marr brought in his first oil well in the Eldorado field, testified yesterday in Marr's trial on charges of misuse of the mails, that he (Fallon) threw oil on the derrick of the well "to make it look like it had come in as a gusher." Fallon also testified that he and his helper filled two 250-barrel storage tanks on the lease with water and then placed "three or four inches of oil on top of the water to make them look like they were full of oil." Fallon said that Marr talked with him about throwing oil on the derrick one night and the next day he got orders from Marr's superintendent to go ahead and do it.

BANKERS PREPARING FOR GERMAN LOAN

Paul Warburg to Direct Negotiations for Advance of Funds.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, April 11.—First steps to advance money for the economic rehabilitation of Germany have been taken by international bankers.

In underwriting an issue of acceptance credits, American financial interests are understood to be co-operating with London bankers in raising $20,000,000 or more for the inauguration of the gold bank in Germany headed by Dr. Schacht. Paul Warburg, head of the International Acceptance Bank was named as the leader in the negotiations. He declined to make public the details of the plan, but other bankers estimated subscriptions here would total between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

While the project has no connection with the Dawes report, it marks the first investment of American funds in German banking enterprises and is believed to indicate the willingness of bankers to participate in the $200,000,000 loan to Germany suggested by the experts.

Findings of the experts continued to arouse favorable comment in the financial district. Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, said the committee had made a most significant contribution to the ultimate solution of the reparations problem, and that their report was the most progressive step taken since the Versailles Treaty. He added:

"It is worthy of note that the amount the experts feel Germany can safely set up annually for reparations is less than one-third of the 5 per cent interest and one per cent amortization charge provided in the original reparations figure, indicating that if the conclusions are accepted there must be not only a scaling down of reparations, but also a marked general readjustment of inter-allied debts."

The McKenna committee, asserted the banker, had come to a sensible conclusion in agreeing that German capital could be recovered not by compulsory measures, but only by inducements.

JAPANESE PREPARE FOR VOTE

Farmers Active in View of Government's Plan for Suffrage.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. TOKIO, March 7.—The avowed intention of the Japanese Government to introduce a bill in the next session of the Diet to grant universal manhood suffrage has revived nationwide interest in the franchise.

In many parts of the country industrial and agricultural guilds are forming in preparation for direct participation in national politics. Farm tenants have recently formed the largest of these organizations. 12,000 farmers in Yamaguchi prefecture and the district around Fujiyama have organized the Yamaguchi Farm Tenants' Association with political action as its chief purpose.

"BUCKET SHOP" INDICTMENTS FOLLOW CRASH OF BROKERS

New York Firm Operated "Dummy" and Withdrew Assets Before Failure, Is Charged.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Five former members of the bankrupt brokerage firm of Scott-Norris & Co. were indicted yesterday, charged with operating a bucket shop.

Those indicted were Carlisle Rowntree, head of the firm; his brothers, Maxwell S. and L. U. Rowntree; Earl L. McGuigan and H. H. Spurgeon.

Maxwell S. and L. U. Rowntree are missing and were last heard from in Texas. Spurgeon was at one time a cotton dealer in Georgia. The firm owed about $1,000,000. The entire capital was only $250,000, according to testimony brought out at a bankruptcy hearing.

Maxwell and L. U. Rowntree were said to have operated a "dummy" firm known as Peabody & Adams, with desk room in the Scott-Norris & Co. offices, and through which the cotton concern's assets were withdrawn from banks a few days before the failure. McGuigan was said to have disappeared after having withdrawn $30,000 of the firm's assets a few days before the crash. Spurgeon, who said he was the son of a prominent South Carolina business man, was accused of having obtained quotations from the New York Cotton Exchange, upon which Scott-Norris & Co. based its bucketing operations.

TAX MONEY APPARENTLY LOST

Woman Has Money Order Receipt—Postoffice Burned.

Because she "has the postoffice money order receipt and should be safe," Mrs. Willis Hungerford of Elsie, Ill., is asking County Treasurer Terry not to advertise her place for taxes. Mrs. Hungerford says she mailed a postoffice money order for $21.15 to pay her taxes on April 2. That night the Elsie postoffice burned and some mail was destroyed. Mrs. Hungerford wrote Terry asking whether he received her tax money. Terry replied that the County Treasurer's office had not received the money and would like to have it by April 15.

Cardinal Hayes Off for San Remo.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, April 11.—Cardinal Hayes departed last evening for San Remo, where he will spend a week resting after the arduous round of ceremonies which has been continuous since his arrival in Rome, March 17. A large number of prelates were at the station to see the Cardinal off. He will reach Paris April 21, and will take passage on the Leviathan, sailing from Cherbourg for New York the following day.

National Significance.

AY HAVE BEARING ON THE PRESIDENCY

Event La Follette Runs as Third Candidate, He Likely Would Decide a Deadlock in House.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Unusual interest attaches to the election contest in the House of Representatives yesterday, because of the fact that it may have on the election of the next President of the United States.
Sol Bloom of the Nineteenth New York District, the Democratic incumbent, retains his seat, contested by Walter M. Chandler, Republican, by a vote of 219 to 194.
Bloom's victory was made possible
by the votes of insurgent Republican members, under the leadership of John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, the La Follette lieutenant in the House. In a speech upholding
Bloom's right to his seat, Nelson took full account of the implications of the contest, and called on his Republican colleagues to decide the question on its merits
without regard to partisanship.
The vote for Bloom leaves the New York delegation with 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans. It is not certain, however, that the election will be controlled by the Democrats, when and if the House
called upon to break a deadlock
over the presidency in the next general election. There are two
New York contests yet to be decided—one against a sitting Republican, La Guardia, and another against a sitting Democrat, Welles.
The seating of Welles's opponent,
La Guardia's retention of his seat,
would overthrow the slim Democratic control.

La Follette Important Factor.
These contests take on national significance in the light of the movement to put La Follette running as a third candidate in the presidency. The Constitution provides that a presidential candidate to be successful in the electoral college must have a majority of the total number of electoral votes; if no one has such a majority, the election is thrown into the House of Representatives.
Now it is quite conceivable—indeed, in the opinion of some political observers, it is highly probable—that if La Follette runs either the Democratic nor the Republican candidate will have a majority of the electoral votes. The theory is predicated on the assumption that La Follette will carry half a dozen or more states in the Northwest and that the result will be a deadlock between the Republican nominees will be decided, of course, either a Democratic Republican sweep would upset the calculation and cause the election to be decided in the usual way.
With La Follette in the race, the Democrats have more to gain than
the Republicans, as most of the states he might carry are States
which normally are counted in the Republican column. It is possible, therefore, that the candidacy of La Follette would merely operate to insure the success of the Democratic nominee.

Electoral College Deadlock.
Every attempt to forecast
the outcome, however, has taken into consideration the possibility of an electoral college deadlock.

The electoral votes resulting from the election of next November will be counted at the Capitol Feb. 11, 1925, just three weeks
before the end of the President's term. If no candidate has a majority, then, under the terms of
the Twelfth Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1804,
from the persons having the greatest number, not exceeding three on each side, the House of Representatives shall choose, immediately, by ballot, the President.

The balloting in the House on such an event, is by States. Each State has one vote, so that New York, which has 41 electoral votes, has only one member of the House to cast the name power of the State.

It is important to note that the next election goes into effect the balloting for President will be done by the present House, which will not expire until March 1925, and not by the House to be elected next November.
Therefore, the political complexion
of each State delegation has importance.

Five States Evenly Divided
in the present House, 93 delegations are controlled by Republicans and 50 by Democrats.

Sol Bloom of the Nineteenth New York District, the Democratic insurgent, retains his seat, contested
by Walter M. Chandler, Republican, by a vote of 210 to 198.
Bloom's victory was made possible
by the votes of insurgent Republican members, under the leadership of John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, the La Follette lieutenant in
the House. In a speech upholding
Bloom's right to his seat, Nelson
took full account of the supplementary vote of the insurgents, and called upon his Republican colleagues to decide the question on its merits,
without regard to partisanship.
Nelson, for Bloom leaves the New York delegation with 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans. It is not certain, however, that the delegation will be controlled by the Democrats, when and if the House
called upon to break a deadlock
over the presidency in the next electoral college. There are two
New York contests yet to be decided—against a State Senator, and La Follette, and another against a sitting Democrat, Weller.
The seating of Weller's opponent and La Follette's retention of his seat would overthrow the slim Democratic control.
La Follette Important Factor.
These contests take on national
significance in the light of the movement to put La Follette in the running as a third candidate for the presidency. The Constitution provides that a presidential candidate to be successful in the
electoral college must have a majority of the total number of electoral votes; if no one has such a majority, the election is thrown
into the House of Representatives.
Now it is quite conceivable—indeed, in the opinion of some political observers, it is highly probable—that if La Follette runs,
neither the Democratic nor the Republican candidate will have a majority of the electoral votes. This theory is predicated on the assumption that La Follette will carry half a dozen or more states in the Northwest and that the race between the Democratic and Republican nominees will be close.
Of course, either a Democratic or Republican sweep would upset the calculation and cause the election to be decided in the usual way.
With La Follette in the race, the Democrats have more to gain than
the Republicans, as most of the
states he might carry are States
which normally are counted in the Republican column. It is possible, therefore, that the candidacy by La Follette would merely operate to insure the success of the Democratic nominee.
Electoral College Deadlock.
Every attempt to forecast the 1924 outcome, however, has got to take into consideration the possibility of an electoral college dead-
lock.
The electoral votes resulting from the election of next November will be counted at the Capitol Feb. 11, 1925, just three weeks
before the end of the President's
term. If no candidate has a majority, then, under the terms of
the Twelfth Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1804,
from the persons having highest votes, not exceeding three on the part of those votes for President, the House of Representatives must choose immediately, by ballot,
the President.
The balloting in the House, in such an event, is by States. Each State has one vote, so that New York, with only one member of the House, has exactly the same power as
New Hampshire, which has 43.
It is important to note that if the next election is into Congress, the balloting for President will be done by the present House,
and not by the next November.
Therefore, the political complexion
of that State delegation has significance.
New States Evenly Divided.

BERLIN, April 11.—Hugo
Stinnes is dead.
Rising fever conquered the shriveling frame of the mighty industrialist and at 8:20 o'clock last night physicians entered the salon adjoining his bedroom in a Berlin sanatorium to whisper to the waiting family and trusted aids of the man whose hands had gathered while Germany crumbled, that he who knew no defeat in the relentless pursuit of world power had lost it.
The weird, oriental-faced figure who dominated the Bourses of Central Europe, who defied Governments and sought to outwit armies
by the cunning of his manipulations, fought a bitter struggle to the last.
Delirious as Death Seared.
A curious delusion seized him early in the evening. A witness of his last moments described it as follows:
"He seemed to see a communist horde advancing upon him. His face was contorted and his voice shrill as he imagined they had come to take his possessions away.
It seemed as if they advanced nearer and nearer until he felt their hands about his throat, and he fell back, exhausted, breathless, in fearful agony. He recovered for a moment. Then he reviled his enemies with terrible curses.
"Suddenly the mood passed and in a barely audible voice he asked for a glass of water and thanked me courteously. But again the fever possessed him and again he was warring with the communists.
Stinnes Ruled Industrialists.
Stinnes' going carries a reaction into every corner of German industrial and political life. No other man in Europe concentrated in his own hands the power that lay in Stinnes."
Now no one is prepared to wield that power as he did. He never took anyone, his children or his associates, officially into his confidence for them to carry on with the huge enterprises he had built up or absorbed.
Ever since the war it has been the big industrialists who ruled Germany. Stinnes ruled the industrialists and was able to dictate policy to all succeeding Governments. Behind Germany's reparation policy has stood the influence of the industrial group which Stinnes would have had the deciding voice in Germany's reply to the report of the reparation experts.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—A legal opinion on whether the proposed initiative measures recommended by the State Highway Commission should be submitted to the voters, and to meet an anticipated stringency in construction finances in 1925, can be submitted in one proposition on the basis of the November election.
This was the opinion of the Attorney General, but is being held up pending submission of briefs by attorneys from automobile organizations.
Attorney General Barrett received notice yesterday from Roy Britton, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, that briefs will be presented by several attorneys, each claiming to be considered before the opinion is issued.
Three Proposals Favored.
As is known, the Highway Commission recommended submission of three initiatives, proposed to the people. One would authorize sale of the balance of the $60,000,000
road bond issue at the rate of $15-000,000 a year. Thus far $15,000,000 in bonds have been issued. The other two proposals, both providing additional road revenue, would authorize a 2-cent-a-gallon tax, on gasoline used for motor vehicle fuel and authorize a 50 per cent increase in State automobile license fees.
Barrett declined to comment on the position to be taken on submission of the three measures in one proposition. It is understood, however, that legal authorities are not favorable to combination of the three proposals in one. No court ruling has been made previously on the question, but the constitutional requirement of one initiative act is that but one subject shall be covered in the same bill.
Validity of the proposals might be attacked, it was said, if they were merged. It has been pointed out further that combining the measures would stake the whole program on one proposition, whereas submission of the proposals separately would enable voters to decide on each measure separately.
In expressing their views on the future of the road program.
Power of Legislature.
Adoption of the proposal to increase the power of the Legislature to impose the increased taxation on motorists of the State, as laws enacted by the initiative are subject to amendment or repeal by the Legislature is pointed out in an opinion already rendered to the Highway Commission by Assistant Attorney General Henry Davis.
The power of the Legislature over laws enacted by the initiative would enable removal of the taxation at the completion of the road system, it was stated. The Legislature has such power to amend or repeal a constitutional amendment adopted by the initiative.
Under the program recommended
the cost of speeding up completion of the road program would be shared by the State and the road bond issue, and then completing the balance of the 7440 mile State highway system, would be borne by the State and the gasoline tax, and the motor vehicle license fees.

DEMOCRATIC TAX MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Party leaders in the Senate Finance Committee were busy today with the report on the tax reduction bill which will be submitted tomorrow or Monday and will form the basis of the contest expected to begin next week on the floor.
The main controversy will center on the income tax rates. Republicans of the Finance Committee voted the Mellon rates into the bill and Democrats under the leadership of Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, have advanced a substitute schedule calling for lower normal and higher surtax rates.
Simmons predicted that the new Democratic tax plan would have the support of all but two or three of the Senate Democrats, while Senator Brookhart (Rep.), Iowa, estimated that 10 Republicans and probably the two Farmer-Labor Senators from Minnesota would support the Democratic rates if no higher surtax rates could be obtained as against the lower surtax rates proposed in the committee bill.
The Simmons schedule provides for a 2 per cent rate on the normal taxes and a 40 per cent surtax rate.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 11.—The Cunard liner Mauretania, which left Southampton in tow this morning for Cherbourg for repairs, is reported to have touched ground near the Isle of Wight. She was not damaged and proceeded. Flying the "not under control" signal and towed by five tugs from Rotterdam,
the Atlantic greyhound left her dock on a 24-hour journey for Cherbourg. Her machinery was dismantled seven weeks ago for overhauling and has not been reasshipyard men here. In order to get the repairs completed, the liner was sent to Cherbourg.

Contracts for Road Material Aggregating $1,028,750 Let.
Contracts for road building materials, aggregating $1,028,750, for delivery over the next three years, were signed by the State Highway Commission at its meeting in St.
Louis this week, thereby solving a problem that has been confronting the commission in getting sections of the State, particularly Northwestern Missouri.
N. R. McDowell of Kansas City, was awarded a contract for delivery to the State of 250,000 tons of crushed stone at $1.25 a ton, on board cars at quarries at Smithville, Clay County, and Gallatin, Daviess County. The contract period is for three years, and totals $312,500.
Another contract was let to a Kansas City concern for delivery of 150,000 tons of crushed stone at $1.10 a ton, over a three-year period. Wood Brothers of Lincoln, Mo., were awarded a contract to supply the State 100,000 tons of sand, at 20 cents a ton, set down on the bank of the Kaw river, Kansas City.
The greater part of the crushed stone delivered under these contracts will go to road construction projects in Northwest Missouri. B.

The State furnishes the stone to contractors.
McDowell has been negotiating tons of crushed stone, worth $1,562,500,

when it became evident that the

H. T. Gerdemann, Pioneer St. Charles County Country Storekeeper, Writes of Early-Day Conditions in His Autobiography.
"My father carried thousands of dollars in his saddle bags to St.
Louis without being halted or interfered with."
Sounds strange, does it not, in these days of payroll robberies when gangsters go about shooting and robbing people and get away with it?
It is an excerpt from the autobiography of a country storekeeper, who has lived "under 40 Presidents, from Polk to Coolidge," and Yarns of Early Settlers.
Here Gerdemann devotes from the subject of whisky to relate a number of yarns he heard told by the Virginia and Kentucky settlers who dropped into the store on Saturdays to "talk crops and politics." The settlers all were slave owners and had large tracts of land or plantations along Missouri River.
"But to revert to the subject of whisky which cuts such a tremendous figure these days," he goes on.
"It was hardly mentioned in conversation or in the pulpit or newspapers then. Its use was so general that it caused little or no comment 70 years ago."
I recall one of the most popular brands sold in country stores.
It was made in Pittsburg and shipped to St. Louis by steamboat.
It cost 15 cents a gallon and retail for 25 cents. Barrels were smaller then—about 40 gallons to the barrel. Many would buy a barrel for $8, less than the price of a quart now, when you can get it and if you get it the prohibition officers may get you.
Groves of Sugar Maple.
"In those days the streams were lined with groves of sugar maple. Here sugar camps were established and during the frosty nights and bright days of February and March, when the sap was running and flowing most freely, maple syrup and sugared were made.
"Those who did not engage in the arduous work, but were fortunate enough to own a barrel of whisky, would trade whisky for maple syrup
up at the rate of two jugs of whisky for a jug of syrup. Unlike, in the case of a horse trade, where there is no record of a trade of corn for corn, for the sake of the maple where either party wanted to swap back."
Referring to his school days, Gerdemann writes: "There was no real public school system then maintained by taxation alone from a pittance received from the sale of public lands. The teachers' salaries, not half what they are now, were made up by private subscription.
Children of widows were admitted free. School houses were of very primitive construction—logs with the bark on and a clapboard roof, with benches to match.
Memories of School Days.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—De-

Republican party of "a corrupt and reactionary control," Senator Hiram Johnson of California, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, says in a statement published today that he is "neither makes no specific mention of the reports that his campaign is to be curtailed, in view of the recent pri-

Johnson's statement, issued after a number of conferences with friends and supporters, asserts that he will "continue trying" to smash

may be "revitalized and regener-

"Of course, I am not quitting in within the Republican party to rid it of a corrupt and reactionary con-necessity for such an effort, in Cost Plus Plan in Building.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT makes building costs so high?

There is an old saying, "Competition is the life of trade," but very few buildings nowadays are contracted for via "competition."

The prevailing method is the "cost plus" (commission) plan which relieves the contractor of the worry of a loss, makes him negligent, and his employees, knowing this, "lay down on the job," because it means more time put in by them and more "commission for the boss."

And what employer would not sooner receive commission per dollar on a man receiving $10 per day than on one receiving $8? The contractor's excuse is the material supply companies won't give them an estimate on materials needed for a building. That's bunk. They don't want an estimate, as they can bleed the man paying for the building so much more.

The man who has a building built under this plan is responsible for the high cost of building. For your own information, watch the mechanics work on a building being erected on this plan; then watch the mechanics on a building erected under the "competitive plan."

The owner is told by the contractor that it is the mechanics' wages that are to blame. All right. Who is to blame for that? The contractor or sub-contractor who has a job under the cost plus plan doesn't care how many men he puts to work on the job. The more the merrier, and in order to crowd a job, he goes to competition jobs and entices men away by paying them $1 to $2 per day more than the union scale.

When this "cost plus" plan is eliminated, mechanics won't be so flaccid, and the family that pays $35 per month for three rooms and bath will own its own home.

I know where I speak, for I was bit.

REACTION" means to revert to a previous condition; exhaustion consequent on activity. The reactionary citizen delays civilization by joining such organizations as the Klan; insists on prohibition, and is usually a member of so-called Taxpayers' Leagues who seem to try their best to avoid paying taxes. He is always against anything the majority desires, and is so persistent in his theories that he often forces his ideas on the majority by out-voting it because he stays on the job. The citizen who knows certain things are right often makes no effort to prove it at the polls, and then finds the minority have won. For many years there was a certain minority in St. Louis that knocked night and day, and were often referred to as the Knockers' League, and Anvil Chorus of St. Louis. I live in a suburb adjoining St. Louis and we have a so-called Taxpayers' League; when election time comes they call themselves the Annexation Party; that is an old trick in St. Louis County. Use the "halo" of a saint before election, and election day bring forth the horns of Satan, so the "imps" of Esekem can horn in and win. The only thing the party that calls itself the Annexation Party, alias Taxpayers' League, in our community wishes to annex is political power. The Citizens' Party in our community is the real annexation party, and I hope all voters who have attended the concerts of our Anvil Chorus will will the word "reaction" and remember it means to revert to a previous condition and not annexation.

Reaping as We Sow.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ARE we not living in the last days? Of what? If humanity was taught from babyhood the well-known law of reaction, would an educated youth likely commit such a crime or meet such fate as George Wesley Barnett? If the law of "reaping what we sow" impressed more forcefully, if the truth such as Jesus the Christ gave to the world was really taught from the pulpit and in literature halls instead of flowery orations that usually are in harmony with the listeners, would this not become a paradise on earth? Within a few years the "lawless youth" the Rev. Pinkerton discussed would cease to exist.

THE WHEELER ISSUE.

The issue raised by the indictment of Senator Wheeler is not confined to the question of guilt or innocence of Senator Wheeler or the charge that as Senator-elect he solicited Government favors for a client.

If Senator Wheeler is not guilty and has been wrongfully indicted on insufficient or framed testimony, the serious indictment lies against the Department of Justice, which in that event will have been proved to be implicated in a conspiracy to blacken the reputation of a United States Senator for the purpose of checking investigation into the scandals of the department.

The power of the Department of Justice, with its horde of spies and detectives to frame charges and obtain indictments is unquestionable. It wields tremendous power, both to blacken character and inflict punishment, as well as to protect the guilty. Evidence of its power in the latter respect has been brought before the Senate committee investigating Harry M. Daugherty. Others have suffered from its power to blacken, as the case of Borah proves. Its activities in trailing, spying upon and searching the offices of Senators engaged in the scandal investigations have been brought to light.

There are surface indications of a conspiracy to blacken Senator Wheeler. A sinister aspect of the evidence already secured is the activity of George B. Lockwood, secretary of the Republican National Committee, and employee of the committee in connection with the indictment. If politics and personal influence for blackmailing purposes can use the Department of Justice for base ends, the department is in a bad way, indeed. The Senate investigation into the work of the department in Montana is eminently proper and necessary. The awakening of President Coolidge and his new Attorney-General to the importance of the issue are good signs.

If Senator Wheeler is not guilty, the department is utterly corrupt and needs cleaning out from top to bottom.

FORD'S MUSCLE SHOALS BARGAIN.

With the country only beginning to realize the nature of the bargain Henry Ford wants to drive on Muscle Shoals, the supporters of his project in the Senate are doing their best to put it through before the facts are generally known and it is too late.

The facts are that Muscle Shoals is an incalculably valuable water-power property, potentially much more important than the whole navy oil reserve; that Ford's offer of $5,000,000 represents a negligible fraction of what the site is worth to the nation, and that to turn it over to Ford and his heirs for a hundred years at any price would wreck the Federal water-power act, which alone protects the water-power resources of the United States from exploitation.

In the public mind Mr. Ford is in a class by himself and his name lends an odor of philanthropy to the transaction. Yet Mr. Ford is taking no personal responsibility for the corporation which he agrees to organize for the development of Muscle Shoals, is binding the company to no minimum rate on electric power, is promising nothing beyond the manufacture of a limited quantity of fertilizer at a profit of not more than 8 per cent.

Washington is just now regretting the disposition of an oil reserve. There is no reason why the Senate should go out of its way to dissipate the country's water-power reserves to favor Henry Ford. The lease is drawn up to run a hundred years. There is no need to hurry.

WHAT IS CONSTRUCTIVENESS?

The correspondent "R. L. S." in the Post-Dispatch letter column makes some sweeping generalizations on the so-called "radical" Senators who have engineered the investigations of graft in the administration. "What," he asks, "have they done for the people? There is not a single piece of constructive legislation the writer can think of that has ever come through their efforts."

In partial answer to this question it may be remarked that the insurgent bloc is a small minority able to block legislation by either party because holding the balance of power but unable to initiate legislation without the backing of party organization. Also, it may be answered, in La Follette's case, that before he became a Federal official he led his State in a program of reform legislation which has made it a model among state governments. It was the continual hammering of insurgents and disturbers that brought about the primary, initiative and referendum, popular election of Senators and other reforms, which, if not completely satisfying hope, are constructive measures with intent to benefit the public.

But let us not be misled by too literal an interpretation of "constructiveness" in politics. The most constructive objective in government is honesty. With corrupt officials it matters little what legislation we have, and with honest officials the need of legislation dwindles. A great many, if not a preponderance of laws are aimed at circumventing rascality and fraud. Business interests which were complaining of an excess of laws prior to the recent exposures are now waiting for an end to the investigations so that Congress can legislate—do something "constructive."

It is necessary first to destroy the bad before the foundation can be laid for government.

IS BIRTH CONTROL IMMORAL?

A St. Louis University reader, commenting on a recent editorial in the Post-Dispatch on the birth-control bill now before a congressional committee, suggests that we overlooked the moral aspect of the question. And he thinks the doctrine of birth control is "intrinsically evil."

We take it that our critic has in mind the Biblical command to Noah and his sons: "Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth." That command was given at the time when it was needed, the earth being then without population. But it is unreasonable to stretch the command to mean that the replenishment should continue without limit, until starvation and death menaced the race. That, indeed, would be intrinsically evil.

Broadly speaking, whatever contributes to the welfare of the race must be good. And regardless of the question of overpopulation, the advocates of birth control contend that the knowledge sought to be legalized will safeguard the lives of mothers, prevent infanticide and make for healthier and happier families, by removing the evils of overcrowding and overcompetition which keep millions in poverty.

SWAN SONG AND WARNING.

As a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination Hiram Johnson has sung his swan song. He does not say so in so many words, indeed, he affects a bold front, declares he is not discouraged by the results of the various primaries and asserts that the fight for the redemption and purification of the Republican party will go on until won. All forward-looking citizens will hope that this last assertion is correct. But what Hiram Johnson fails wholly to perceive is that if this fight is to go on some other leader must be found. Hiram Johnson is not the man to carry the banner.

The name of Hiram Johnson has lost its magic. There is no longer a thrill in the vehemence of his jeremiads. Under circumstances peculiarly favorable to a revolt Johnson made his bid and the bid has been rejected. There has been no real response anywhere to his candidacy. He himself accounts for this by the fact that he had neither means nor organization, and the newspapers, he complains, were, with few exceptions, closed against him. Severe as such handicaps are, they do not explain the popular apathy and even cynicism with which his overtures were received. Hiram Johnson, the candidate for the presidential nomination, has been repudiated at the primaries because of the record of Senator Hiram Johnson.

Nevertheless, Hiram Johnson, in his valedictory, has sounded a warning which the sincere body of citizens that composes the Republican party should take to heart. When he says "The Republican party is dominated by the unholy alliance between crooked big business and crooked politics" he utters a truth of which the public has had sinister and overwhelming evidence. And nothing could be truer than his declaration that "this alliance must be smashed and the party revitalized and regenerated." This must be done, not as a partisan task, for partisan purposes, but as a civic obligation for the restoration of honesty and decency in the administration of public affairs. If the Government at Washington is to endure corruption must be scotched and the corruptionists driven out.

The righteous indignation of Hiram Johnson at the conditions that obtain and the inexplicable complacency with which those conditions have been regarded and, in a way, condoned, as in Senator Pepper's thoroughly immoral speech at the Portland (Me.) convention, is wholly justified. And if Hiram Johnson of 1914 were the Hiram Johnson of 1912 the chances are the rank and file of his party would have rallied to his leadership.

ROADS AND RIVERS.

As regards our good roads project that phase of the subject has been thoroughly discussed and is thoroughly understood by the people of Missouri. We know that by increasing the motor license as has been proposed and putting a two-cent tax on gasoline we can have a great system of highways built and in operation within three years.

That does not mean that our road-building is done. What it does mean is that the essential road requirements of the State have been met. It also means that, by virtue of that great asset, Missouri will be able, financially, to build more roads. The people will have the capital to do it by reason of the new and increased property values created by the basic system.

The same reasoning applies to the rivers. The Mississippi-Warrior barge line has a record of things done that has banished doubt and silenced opposition. When a still struggling young transportation agency carries 714,431 tons of freight in a year, and does it cheaper, by hundreds of thousands of dollars, than the railroads, it has proved itself. That is what the Mississippi-Warrior barge line did last year. And it did this under the serious handicap of inadequate plant and equipment. With channels properly broadened and deepened, with the necessary terminals and boats, those three great rivers will go far toward solving the difficulties that oppress and discourage the farmers and will also help solve the problem of transportation costs that weigh so heavily upon all industry.

Manifestly we can never enjoy those fruits until the rivers are built and the rivers improved. Therefore, the one word, the one thought on which to focus, is completion.

Illinois Republicans stood behind Small in spite of his record. Just another rebuke, we suppose, to "hysteria."

EVADING THE KLAN ISSUE.

In the recent Illinois primaries, ex-Judge C. B. Thomas met the charge of Ku Klux affiliation by reciting the answer of McAdoo to a similar charge, in the Georgia campaign. Mr. McAdoo, replying to the question as to how he stood on the Ku Klux question, said: "I stand foursquare on Article I of the Constitution of the United States, viz: freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and free assemblage."

Judge Thomas says this answer was and is entirely satisfactory to McAdoo's manager, Mr. O'Connell, who is a Catholic and a Knight of Columbus, and to all of his managers and workers in Cook County.

Does Judge Thomas and does Mr. McAdoo's manager know that this "foursquare" answer was and is entirely satisfactory to the Ku Klux Klan and was taken as a practical endorsement of Ku Klux principles? To quote the Patriot, St. Louis Klan organ:

"The views of Mr. McAdoo on the rights of American citizenship and his endorsement of Klan principles were in such striking contrast to those expressed by Senator Underwood, who would see the Klan exterminated, that it is said Mr. McAdoo attracted thousands of voters to his standard by his foursquare utterance at Macon."

It is evident that the Klan leaders take this "foursquare" utterance as meaning so little that it amounts to an evasion of the question, and as between Underwood, who would have the Democratic party adopt a plank in its platform reaffirming opposition to such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan, as the party did in 1856 with regard to the Know-Nothing movement, and McAdoo, who will not take this decided stand, they indorse McAdoo.

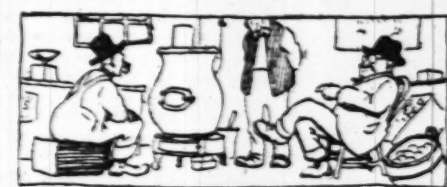

If Mr. McAdoo and those who parrot his evasive Ku Klux answer think the voters, other than Klansmen and their sympathizers, will be satisfied with this, they are indeed blind. No man can stand on both sides of this question. Downright, unequivocal repudiation of the Klan is the only sound attitude for any candidate in the coming campaign.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

THE first round in the three-cornered presidential race was fought in the lower house of Congress on yesterday and the Republicans lost it," Mr. Antwine said.

"I will give you the particulars. If La Follette runs and the election of a President is thrown into the House of Representatives, as many people think it probably will be, each of the states is entitled to one vote. This vote is cast by a majority of the state congressional delegation.

"As Congress stands, the Republicans have 23 such votes and the Democrats 20. The remaining five states are tied and therefore would lose their votes. One of these five states is New York, and on yesterday the House had before it the report on a contest brought up from New York. Congressman Bloom, Democrat, had won by 15 votes. His opponent contested, and the Committee on Elections brought in a report seating the contestant.

"It was there the first blow in the presidential contest was struck. If the Republicans unseated Bloom they placed New York in the Republican column. That would give them 24 states, and the necessary 25 could no doubt be secured by some hocus-pocus in one of the small New England states.

"It was the business of the third party, so-called to prevent this. It did prevent it. The La Follette bloc in the House cast enough votes with the Democrats to reject the report and retain Mr. Bloom.

"This will give us an idea how closely the corners are to be worked in such a campaign. We will all know about political strategy when it is over. Let us hope that Mr. Coolidge will know something about farming," Mr. Antwine said.

What Germany feels about the junker class which first rendered her intolerable and then ruined her is brought out by Gertrude Atherton's suggestion that the former German leaders be rejuvenated by the ability to be worked in such a campaign. We will all know about political strategy when it is over. Let us hope that Mr. Coolidge will know something about farming," Mr. Antwine said.

It looks as if the people of Illinois had sent Senator McCormick to join the other New Yorkers. We thought they would. It is a long list—Calder, Du Pont, Franks, Frelinghuysen, Kelllogg, McCumber, New, Poindexter and Townsend—and McCormick strung out on the end of it, like a kite-tail in the Spring breeze, will give it balance.

Sir: The man on the Upper Deck says, put your money on the home club Saturday and Sunday.

Whether Americans in Paris are sometimes as bad as indicated in this story from one of the new books is probably not a grave question, but it may be so:

There were, for instance, those two American women near whom I stood once, in a garden here (at Malmaison). Very elegantly dressed, they were; and a few minutes later I saw them enter a superb motor, at the gate. But their lives had, evidently, been very little troubled by any "Who's Who" outside of their social register.

"Just who," one of them, lowering her voice discreetly, asked the other, "was this Josephine?"

"Why—er," the second woman began, hesitatingly, "she—er—lived here, with Napoleon."

"Were they—er—married?"

"I believe so."

We recall in confirmation of this the testimony as to Switzerland by Evelyn Thaw, who was not sure whether that was one of the countries which she and Harry visited, but thought it likely "if it is the place where they have so much good cheese."

Sir: Of a truth there is great good in privation, and through poverty much may be learned of man, if not of God. Today as I practiced the humble virtues at the counter of a popular eating place there came to my large and listening ears a new verb. "Hey, Handsome," called my Lady of the Paper Napkin. "Alla mode this pie for me."

Maybe April even keeps cool with Coolidge.

Watch your stepmother.

Arthur Winchbaine says Gen. Dawes is interesting himself in something that is none of our business, which shows what an ever-present yelp Arthur is in time of trouble.

Sir: You might have said that in addition to being a Democrat of the first water, Mr. Bryan is also our leading expert on birth control.

THE DECLINE OF POETRY.

From the Pittsburgh Sun.

What a low estate has poetry! This country poet laureate, who has ventured that prior to the publication of the news a large proportion of the can lovers of good literature would be unable to say who held the laurel, has written a poem that is practically a eulogy on the decline of poetry. BRITAIN'S TEAPOT DONE.

From World's Work for April.

PERHAPS the sanest comment upon the Teapot Dome scandal is certainly the one that brings out the aspect of the matter at all concerning Americans, is that of the famous New York Times, which has written that the scandal necessarily implies the failure of American experiment and of democracy.

Such betrayals of public trust by means peculiar to the United States, most European governments are materially different from that which has stirred this country. The scandal between American and European and British political scandals, and that is the greater publicity such matters receive in the United States. On this side of the Atlantic there is apparently a wholesome inclination to keep such unpleasant investigations under cover. Probably this is because in mind the Marconi scandal, so shook British public life it is now the complete story never reached the ears of enough fact came to light, however, make it plain that important members of the Asquith Cabinet had been swindled in the shares of the Marconi Company, which the Government had just nationalized.

DON'T THEN IN APPEAL FOR DAUGHERTY IN OHIO

Longworth and Willis Refuse to Heed Request to Counteract Pepper Speech.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The fact that Ohio politics is indicated by the circumstance that every Republican Senator and Representative from that State has received a telegram from Hoke Donithen, Coolidge Ohio manager, urging him to Ohio for speeches to counteract the bad effect of Senator Pepper's Maine address.

That oration caused dismay among the Old Guardmen. Donithen replied by declaring that he did not propose to permit the administration to "blame it on Harding" or to make himself a scapegoat. This was the Donithen message.

Following to the effect in Ohio, Pepper's speech. I am somewhat concerned at the results at the primary election April 22. I think should have some speeches in Ohio. Let me know at once what dates you could accept. I am in Ohio prior to the 23rd.

Leaders Confer With Ohioan House Leader Longworth. Senator Willis were thrown into quandary at this. They conferred with their Ohio brethren and it is known the appeal would be ignored, since it involved the dilemma of either siding with the Attorney-General, who was victimized in the Pepper speech, or siding with the Governor, one of the mistakes of President Harding.

In either case trouble was seen, and to go to Ohio and more the clash would be equivalent to a declaration of war. By the reflection that at the Hiram Johnson is running now, President is in no danger in Ohio prior to the election, therefore, the best policy.

Daugherty was signaled out caustic comment by those Ohioans, not aligned with his faction, who professed to see his hand, he the telegram. They figure Daugherty, desiring only to trouble in return for the trouble he received at the hands of the President, was endeavoring to precipitate the issue between the House elements still burning at Pepper reflections and the House forces who have not been successful in putting over the fact that the Pepper speech was representative of the White House attitude.

In any event, to avoid conditions as evidenced in the Pepper speech, the Ohio delegation has concluded it will decline their invitation with proper regrets. If Mr. Coolidge were to resign, the decision would be so easy, as the Longworths, who are candidly admitted.

Party Quiet on Daugherty. There has been a decline in the quality of poetry since the poet laureate, who has written a poem that is practically a eulogy on the decline of poetry, has written a poem that is practically a eulogy on the decline of poetry.

'MOVIE' CENSORSHIP FOLLOWS.

New York Senate Passes Bill, but Assembly Defers.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—The New York State Senate, by a vote of 24, at its final session before adjournment last night, passed a bill for repeal of the law prohibiting the exhibition of pictures containing scenes of violence or of a violent nature.

The bill would amount only to placing individual members on the Assembly defeated attempts to repeal the movie-law.

In its last day the Assembly voted down a bill to abolish the death penalty for murder, and a bill to grant official recognition to chiropractors, when it was a bill designed to provide for the election of a new governor.

LA FOLLETTE MEN SEAT DEMOCRAT IN HOUSE CONTEST

publicans, while the Democrats have a majority in 29, including New York's. In five states the representation is split evenly between Republicans and Democrats. Assuming that the voting in these states would be on strict party lines, they would cancel themselves out of the equation, leaving the decision as to the presidency to be made by the 45 states, where one side or the other has control.

The Constitution says that a majority of all the states is necessary to a choice. A majority is 25. On a party division, with the lineup as at present, neither side would be able to muster this number. Even should the Republicans succeed in changing the political complexion of the New York delegation, they would have but 24 votes and they would have 24 only if they got the vote of Wisconsin, which is under the complete control of La Follette.

A deadlock in the House, on the face of these figures, would seem to be inevitable.

The Constitution provides that if the House shall fail to elect a president by the fourth of March, the Vice President shall act as President.

Vice Presidency to Senate.

Election of a Vice President, in the event of an electoral college deadlock, would devolve upon the Senate. The balloting there would be by individuals, with a majority, or 49 votes, necessary to a choice. The decision would be made between the two highest men on the vice presidential ticket, instead of three, as in the case of the President. Thus the chances of a deadlock would be minimized, though it is possible a choice might be prevented by a tie vote. In the Senate there are 51 Republicans, 42 Democrats and two Farmer-Laborites. The progressive group, in which are included the Farmer-Labor members, holds the balance of power, and might throw the election to the Democrat.

There is no constitutional provision to cover the situation that would arise from a deadlock in both the House and the Senate. The power of Congress to provide for presidential succession is limited, under the Constitution, to cases of vacancy caused by death, resignation or removal of the President and Vice President. According to one theory, if Congress should fail to elect an executive, the presidential succession act of 1886 would apply, in which case the presidency would pass to the present Secretary of State. The validity of this theory is disputed by some authorities.

Utmost Confusion of Thought.

Indeed, there is the utmost confusion of thought on the whole subject of the tangle that would follow the failure of the electoral college to choose a President. The situation contains the germs of a partisan struggle as bitter as the Hayes-Tilden contest.

It is possible, of course, that deaths or other causes might bring about a sufficient change in the five evenly split delegations to throw the decision to one side or the other in the House. Again, it has been suggested that each of these States might be given one-half vote on each side, though there is no provision in the Constitution or in statute law for such an arrangement. If it were made effective, then the Republicans would be able to add two and one-half votes to their present total of 23, giving them 25½ votes, or one-half more than the required majority.

But if Wisconsin's vote went for La Follette or the Democratic nominee, then the Republicans would have only 24½ votes, and the question surely would arise whether one-half vote over 24 constituted a majority.

Manifold Possibilities.

The counting of half votes is an extremely unlikely contingency, but the fact that it is being talked about indicates the manifold possibilities in the situation. There are enough of them to make one's head swim. Meantime, every election contest in a close delegation will be keenly fought out, and any by-election that may be held to fill a vacancy in such a delegation will be fought with significance. So will be the vote of any individual who may switch from one side to the other in any of the five delegations which are now disfranchised by reason of the tie between Democrats and Republicans.

It is just conceivable that some member of a tied delegation may resign, and the fate of the nation may hang on a special election to name his successor, in some out-of-the-way "pocket borough."

That the suggestion of a probable deadlock in the House is far from fantastic is indicated from an examination of the makeup of the House in 1912, the last previous occasion on which there was a likelihood of an electoral college deadlock. In the House that would have been chosen among Taft, Wilson and Roosevelt, had none of them received a majority, there were 22 delegations controlled by the Republicans, 22 by the Democrats and four that were tied. The House apparently would have been hopelessly deadlocked, and the Senate would have chosen a Vice President to act as President, from the two highest second-string candidates—Thomas R. Marshall and Hiram Johnson.

Hiram probably was closer to the presidency that year than he ever will be again.

House Elected President Twice. On only two occasions has the election of a President been thrown into the House. The first was in 1801, when the count in the Electoral College showed Thomas Jef-erson with 73 votes, Aaron Burr, 73; John Adams, 65; C. C. Pinckney, 64, and John Jay with 1. The House balloted from Feb. 11 to 17, without adjournment. On the thirty-sixth ballot, Jefferson received the votes of 10 states and was elected. Burr got the votes of four states and became Vice President, under the clause of the Constitution which has been superseded by the Twelfth amendment.

Again in 1825—100 years ago next February—the House was called upon to choose a President. Andrew Jackson, Democrat, had received 99 electoral votes; John Quincy Adams, Republican, 84; W.

C. Crawford, Republican, 41, and Henry Clay, Republican, 37. On the first ballot, Adams was elected President by the House, receiving the votes of 13 states, against seven for Jackson and four for Crawford.

Jackson's friends charged that Representative Clay threw his support to Adams after he had been promised appointment as Secretary of State if Adams were elected by the House. Clay, at any rate, became Adams' Secretary of State. In 1829, Jackson was elected to the presidency to succeed Adams. The Senate has named a Vice President only once. In 1847, when Martin Van Buren was chosen President by the Electoral College, Richard M. Johnson, two votes short of the necessary majority to become Vice President, was subsequently elected to that office by the Senate.

STORM DELAYS WORLD
FLIGHT IN ALASKA

U. S. Army Planes Arrive at Sitka After Four-Hour Trip
From Prince Rupert.

By the Associated Press.
SITKA, Alaska, April 11.—
Warned of an approaching storm off the Gulf of Alaska, the four United States Army aviators, who left Santa Monica, Cal., March 17
on a flight around the globe, rested here today after their 300-mile flight yesterday from Prince Rupert, B. C.

The aviators were scheduled to "hop off" today for a 475-mile jump to Cordova, Alaska, but Maj.
Frederick L. Martin, commander of the aerial armada, upon receipt of weather reports from bureaus north of Sitka, asserted no attempt would be made to continue.
The day was spent in examining motors and making minor repairs.
The four airplanes arrived at 12:45
p. m. yesterday, flying the 300 miles in four hours and 21 minutes. The time here is an hour later than at Prince Rupert. The landing was without incident and the weather good.

British Around-the-World Flyers to Land at Prince Rupert.

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ont., April 11.—Following an itinerary prepared by the Royal Canadian air force, the British airmen attempting to fly around the world, will land in Canada at Prince Rupert, B. C., and leave Sydney, N. S., for Europe via Newfoundland.

A two-day stay at Ottawa will be necessary to install a new engine.
The craft will be prepared for the Atlantic flight at St. John's, N. F.
Brief stops at Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Sault Ste. Marie, Montreal, Riviere du Loup, Fredericton and Amherst will be the only other interruptions in the flight across the dominion.

Wilson Had Harbord Promoted.

CLEVELAND, O., April 11.—Declaring that Woodrow Wilson never interfered in the promotion of army officers, Newton D. Baker, in an American Legion address last night, said that Major-General James G. Harbord was the only one promoted on the direct order of the former President. "He left the promotions entirely in the hands of the War Department,"
the former Secretary of War said.
"But after Belleau Wood, in which Harbord displayed such gallantry
at the head of his marines, I prepared a list of promotions. "Be-sure you put my marine on the list," the President told me."

TWO SENATORS ADMIT GETTING FARM LOANS

Gooding and Family Got $173,000. He Says—Stanfield Firm Received $250,000

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Senators Gooding of Idaho and Stanfield of Oregon, both Republicans, made speeches in the Senate yesterday in answer to the Post-Dispatch and New York World exposition of how they or their relatives benefited from War Finance Corporation advances of money, while small farmers and stockmen were unable to obtain loans.

Gooding, indignant, nevertheless admitted he or his brothers had received several loans from the War Finance Corporation, although he disputed the totals given by the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Gooding presented a resolution of his own drafting for an investigation. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Audit and Control. It reads:

"Resolved, That the President of the Senate pro tem hereby is authorized to appoint a special committee of three members of the Senate to investigate and report to the Senate as soon as practically possible the facts in respect to the activities of the War Finance Corporation in distributing loans and advances for agricultural and livestock purposes in the State of Idaho, and particularly any alleged favoritism shown in such distribution to Frank R. Gooding, Senator from the State of Idaho, or any member of his family or any of his business associates."

The resolution embodied the customary authorization for holding hearings, subpoenaing witnesses and records.

Farmers Generally Disappointed.
"I rise to a question of personal privilege," said Gooding as soon as the Senate convened. "In this World, a great newspaper published in New York City, is an article on the first page, first column, which charges favoritism by the War Finance Corporation to myself and some of my friends and also to Senator Stanfield. It says that Senators Gooding and Stanfield and friends together borrowed $1,052,000 from the War Finance Corporation."

The Idaho Senator had the World article read by the Clerk, and after presenting his protest, which will not come up until the Audit and Control Committee has reported on it, continued:

"Mr. President, when a great paper like the World sends its agents over the country searching for someone whom they may besmirch, I am inclined to think that the Senator who is attacked is entitled to have the charges which that paper makes investigated."

"There is not any question that the farmers very generally were disappointed in the benefits which they received from the operations of the War Finance Corporation. The Congress has never enacted any legislation by means of which the Government may go directly to the farmer with loans unless it may be under the farm loan act, and even under that act the loans have to be made through an organization."

Disputes Farmers' Views.
Asserting the War Finance Corporation had "done a great service to the farmers of Idaho, especially to many of the small farmers," Gooding contradicted the farmers' own views as expressed by the resolution adopted by the Pomona (Grange) of Idaho, which demanded an investigation by Congress. However, Gooding conceded that the World had pointed out that the loans were made only through banks or corporations.

"Now, Mr. President," he added, "I want to read the amount of money that the Gooding family borrowed from the War Finance Corporation. When I say 'Gooding family,' I refer to myself and two brothers and my wife. My interests are entirely separate from my own. I have nothing more to do with their affairs than has a stranger."

"To F. W. Gooding & Son there was advanced by the War Finance Corporation $60,000, March 16, 1922, and that loan was paid Aug. 9, 1922. That closed all the loans received by F. W. Gooding & Son from the War Finance Corporation. Since that time they have not had anything advanced them and do not owe the corporation anything."

Own Concern Got $57,000.
"To Crane & Gooding, a company in which I was interested, but of which I disposed of my interest, the War Finance Corporation advanced $34,000 Dec. 2, 1921. That advance was paid Sept. 9, 1922."

"On April 15, 1922, the War Finance Corporation advanced to Crane & Gooding $23,000. That loan was paid Oct. 16, 1922. That closed the accounts of Crane & Gooding with the War Finance Corporation and not a dollar has been borrowed since that time."

"To F. H. Gooding, who is a brother of mine, the War Finance Corporation advanced $15,000 on Jan. 7, 1922. That was paid on August 12, 1922. Not a dollar has been loaned or advanced to F. H. Gooding since that time."

Thus the total of loans admitted by Gooding comes to $157,000. Senator Stanfield gave notice he would answer the World's story more fully later, but told the Senate:

"The article is entirely fallacious. It is an article that should not be printed. A great paper like the New York World should not publish such an article as that without an investigation of the facts and without having some idea of the paper like the New York World winking the characters of and attacking the reputations of individuals unfairly or unjustly, for my experience with the World in the past has been that they are inclined to be fair."

Stanfield in $250,000 Loan.
"So far as I am concerned," he said further, "I have never had a dollar from the War Finance Corporation. It is true that for a short time, and only for the shortest period a loan could be drawn. I stood as an interested party, a stockholder in a corporation and only a minor stockholder, owning but a very small interest in that corporation, which indorsed a signed paper for the sum of $250,000 to the War Finance Corporation and that money was distributed between 25 or 35 livestock men who were in dire distress and needed relief."

He explained there were better accommodations to be had through regular banking channels, and that his interests subsequently turned to these sources.

"I know that through the West," added Stanfield, "there has been misunderstanding, and I welcome this opportunity to explain to the people in the West the fact that governmental preference was not given to the large livestock interests. At least, I know that none of the livestock raising concerns with which I was associated did receive any accommodation that was of material importance, and the only one which I have mentioned, which was of very short duration."

Several Senators who have received protests, particularly from Idaho, hold the root of the evil lies in the law authorizing the War Finance Corporation. When it was last considered in the Senate some efforts were made to extend direct aid to small farmers and stockmen, but this was beaten by those who insisted loans should only be through banks and syndicates. The result has been the inability of the small interests to get help, it is charged, and it has gone instead to such interests as those of Gooding and Stanfield.

ELEVATOR OPERATOR KILLED

Edward Bright Crushed Between

Cage and Fire Door.
Edward Bright, 51 years old, of 4538 San Francisco avenue, elevator operator at the Valler-Spies Milling Co., Marcus avenue and Kingshighway Northeast, was killed yesterday afternoon when crushed against a fire door while the elevator was in motion.

Leo Schaefer, an employee who was on the elevator, told policeman a truck on the elevator shifted as it ascended and struck Bright on the leg, causing Bright to fall forward against the door, where he was crushed by the floor of the cage.

FIRE AT SHOE FACTORY

Company Estimates Loss at $50,000, Firemen at $10,000.

Fire in the plant of the W. H. Lampe Shoe Co., 4060 Forest Park boulevard, last evening, damaged building and contents $50,000, company officials estimated.

The Fire Department, however, was inclined to cut this estimate to about $10,000. The blaze started from a heap of rubbish which a watchman had been burning in the boiler room.

PICKING JURY FOR MRS. HAYES

NEW YORK, April 11.—The second day's trial of Mrs. Myrtle E. Hayes on charges that she forged the name of Charles M. Schwab to a $25,000 note ended with only nine jurors in the box and the panel of 100 talesmen nearly exhausted.

The defendant and her counsel were 15 minutes tardy for the afternoon session. General Sessions Judge McIntyre let them off with an admonition that if it happened again Mrs. Hayes would move from her hotel to the Tombs prison for the remainder of the trial.

FIREMEN ACCEPT $15 MONTHLY INCREASE

"Smoked Out" by Other City Employees, When Nolte Stands Firm.

The city firemen, sometimes admirably termed "smoke eaters," have been smoked out by the other city employees on the salary question, and today the Firemen's Union notified Comptroller Nolte that the firemen would accept the $15 a month increase in pay offered them by the city.

The firemen, who are somewhat less than 1000 in number, found the pressure exerted by 3000 other city employees too great to stand, after the Comptroller announced the other day that, unless the firemen accepted the $15 offer, no increases would be approved on any part of the city payroll.

As has been told, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment had approved a schedule raising the pay of nearly all city employees. To bring the firemen into line, the board had increased its original offer of a $10-a-month increase to $15. On this offer the Comptroller stood, declaring the firemen would get no more. But they were not satisfied, and they objected particularly to the city's demand that they withdraw their pending suit for back pay under the firemen's eight-hour-day ordinance.

When the firemen took this attitude, the Comptroller countered with the declaration that unless an agreement with the firemen were reached, the pay-raising program would be abandoned throughout.

The result was that, before the next meeting of the Board of Aldermen, each Alderman heard from several dozen city employees, asking why the firemen should be permitted to obstruct their increases in pay.

The Aldermen did not know just what to do about it, but Nolte told them. He said they should repeal the firemen's eight-hour ordinance, and the Aldermen, at their last meeting, voted to repeal it. Nolte told them that the eight-hour ordinance, so long as it stood, was a $20,000 contingent liability monthly against the city.

Some Member May Sue. When the firemen saw the Aldermen's attitude, they reconsidered. Their secretary, M. J. Mulvey, and their lawyer, Edward W. Forstel, announced to the Comptroller today their decision to accept the $15 increase and withdraw the pending suit.

"But some member who is not satisfied may sue individually," Forstel warned the Comptroller. Nolte replied that he would consult the Law Department as to a safeguard, and that every fireman, before getting the increase, might be required to sign a waiver of any claim for extra back pay.

Secretary Mulvey told what an unpleasant situation it had been for him. "Other city employees got the impression that we were trying to keep them from getting more pay," he said. "The chauffeurs heard a story that we had asked to have $5 taken from their pay and added to ours. Of course there was nothing to that. We were not trying to keep anybody from getting more money." With the $15 increase, captains will receive $185 a month, lieutenants $165 and private $155. Chief Panzer's salary is to be increased from $4500 a year to $5000, under an arrangement independent of the firemen's negotiations. It had been proposed to grant him $6000, but Comptroller Nolte opposed this, saying Panzer had not co-operated with him as he desired in the negotiations with the firemen.

U. S. MAIL TRUCK HELD UP AND ROBBED AT DETROIT

Four Armed Men, Seeking Valuable Registered Remittance, Escape With Seven Sacks.

DETROIT, Mich., April 11.—
Seven sacks of mail were obtained last evening by four armed men who crowded a United States mail truck to the curb near the Michigan Central depot.

The robbers apparently planned to obtain valuable registered mail,
as this train usually carries remittances of banks and business firms to New York, but another truck, said by postoffice officials to contain most of the registered mail, preceded the truck robbed, by about 10 minutes. No estimate of the value of the mail taken could be obtained from the postoffice, officials declaring it would be at least 48 hours before a check could be made to ascertain definitely the amount.

This is the first time, according to the postoffice, that a United States mail truck has been held up in Detroit.

Soldier Hurt Mysteriously.
Elmer Fulcher, 23 years old, a private of H Company, Sixth United States Infantry, at Jefferson Barracks, was found wandering about Union Station last night in a dazed condition. Police took him to the city hospital, where doctors said he was suffering from a depressed fracture of the skull. He could not recall what had happened to him.

TRACTION LINE BLAMED FOR CRASH THAT KILLED 16

Operating Methods Caused Interurban Accident in Indiana.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Lax operating practices on the Union Traction Co.'s lines were blamed for the accident of February 2, near Ingalls, Ind., which resulted in the death of 16 and injury of 56 persons in a report today to the Bureau of Safety of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The report said investigation showed lax practices included train-men taking orders from other crews, poor maintenance of the block signal system, the almost daily issuance of orders to discard stop indications of automatic signals and to proceed with caution, operation of trains at scheduled speed when in possession of both orders, and failure to include in the rule book the rules governing the operation of the block signal system.

The accident was a head-on collision between two interurban cars on a single track line where trains are operated by time tables, train orders and an automatic block signal system. The block system was not in operation when the accident occurred, the report said.

"The direct cause of the accident," the report said, "was an error in the transmission, receipt or reading of a train order. The underlying cause was lax operating practices which existed on the road.
While it is believed the immediate cause of this accident was the failure of a crew to read a train order correctly, underlying that is the extreme carelessness and neglect shown in general operation.
It is scarcely conceivable that any official having due regard for the safety of those who travel on his railway or those who are employed thereon should permit the existence of the condition which this investigation disclosed."

BRITISH ORDER SECRECY ON INVENTION OF "DEATH RAY"

Laboratory Demonstration of Matthews' Device Is Postponed Indefinitely.

Copyright, 1934, by the Press and Tribune Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, April 11.—A screen of secrecy descended today on H.
Grindell-Matthews' invention, the "death ray," for bringing down airplanes, stopping hostile motor transports and moving down enemy troops.

Arrangements which had been made for certain interested persons to witness the laboratory demonstration of the invention today were postponed indefinitely.

The inventor spent some time instead in secret conference with British naval authorities. In view of this incident, it is assumed in independent quarters that the public will hear little more of the ray until the British military and naval authorities have decided whether they want first option on it.

A well-informed non-British source told the Post-Dispatch and New York World there was a desperate race on between scientists of the United States, Germany, France and England for perfection of an instrument which will do ready several German interests have offered for sale inventions which they asserted send out a "death ray." In each instance it was found these devices were unworkable or inefficient.

However, scientists in several countries have progressed so far in development of a "death ray"
that other scientists are working on the problem of neutralizing its effects.

Says Germans Strive for Pacifism.
OTTAWA, Ill., April 11.—Russian and German agents are working in this country to split the Methodist Episcopal Church on the subject of pacifism, John W.
Gorby, vice president of the National Transportation Institute, asserted at an American Legion meeting here last night. The attack on the Methodist church, he declared, is part of a general campaign by secret agents to break down the American spirit and induce a policy of nonresistance in this country.

SWINDLER, WHO DECORATED GEN. ALLEN, AGAIN PRISONER

Stephan Otto, Who Posed as Belgian Army Officer, Cased as Habitual Criminal.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 24.—Stephan Otto, born near Brussels, who posed as a Major in the Belgian army in 1919 and decorated Major-General Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces at Coblenz, with the Belgian military medal of honor, and who has since been arrested as a swindler in half a dozen European cities, has been classified by Berlin detectives as a "habitual criminal." Despite this,

the young man may soon slip from the German prison because no specific charge has been filed against him.
His latest exploit was an attempt to obtain a high-priced car on the pretense that he was a member of the Interallied Commission of Control in Germany.
Otto has associated with high officials in Paris, Vienna, Brussels and other cities, and story is even told that on one occasion he actually slept a night in Buckingham Palace.

MANNING RESIGNS AS AID TO SIDENER

Action Due to Criticism of His Policy of Accepting Private Practice.

John T. Manning, Assistant Attorney General, resigned yesterday announcing immediately afternoon that the action was taken because of newspaper criticism of his policy of accepting private practice, which under the statutes he feels is entitled.

Eligibility of Manning to be that office because of his election
as State Representative at the last election, was questioned nearly a month ago, as told in the Post-Dispatch March 24. The question of eligibility also involved W.D.
Rosen, another State Representative appointed by Circuit Attorney Sidener as one of his aids. The Attorney General has ruled that members of the Legislature cannot legally hold another public office during the term for which they were elected to the Legislature.

When questioned on that point Manning and Rosen both declared they had resigned from the Legislature. Their terms expire December 1, next. Rosen continues to act as Sidener's office.

As told yesterday Ben Phillips,
first associate prosecuting attorney, also resigned. He said "on occasion, if not the cause," of quitting was newspaper attack upon his private practice withholding public office. Prosecuting Attorney Schneider accepted resignation and announced Aloysius J. Stack, would fill vacancy. Stack lives at 1612 Cl avenue. He has practice law here for 12 years and at times was an examiner in the U-S States Naturalization Bureau.

ATTEMPTED PRISON DELIVER FOILED AT PHILADELPHIA

Deputy Warden Discovers Tunnel
Leading From Cell to Outer Wall.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, April 11.— attempted jail delivery was fo-rated early today at the East
State Penitentiary by Deputy Warden Charles Santee, who discovered a tunnel leading from the cell of Louis Olstein, alias Harry Le-and Harry Watson, alias Go-Francis Gorman, to within 4 feet of the outer wall of the penitentiary. The tunnel extended under prison yard and probably was completed tonight.

It is believed the escape of convicts had been planned.
About a ton of dirt had been excavated by Olstein and Waterton. It is estimated, had been work on the tunnel more than a month with implements
from the stone pile in the penitentiary. Disposal of the dirt was complicated by packing it in bags and gradually dumping down a drain pipe in their cells. Stone encountered in the tunnel was broken into small pieces, decoyed by the convicts on persons and thrown in dirt pile in the yard.

For light in their underground work, the prisoners utilized tooth powder can, from which top had been removed and of rag twisted in the shape
wick, similar to a miner's lamp.
Fuel they used oil stolen from machine shop.

The tunnel consisted of a
of 14 feet below the cell floor extended under the driveway
the direction of Fairmount avenue. Floor boards in the of the cell had been cut with saw blades.

Watson is serving a term to 10 years for larceny and is serving from nine to 18
for manslaughter.

John T. Manning, Assistant Circuit Attorney, resigned yesterday, announcing immediately afterward that the action was taken because of newspaper criticism of his policy of accepting private practice "to which under the statutes I feel I am entitled."

Manning's resignation followed his election to the office of State Representative at the last session, was questioned in the Post-Dispatch March 24. The Attorney General has ruled that a member of the Legislature cannot legally hold another public office during the term for which he was elected to the Legislature.

When questioned on that point Manning and Boone both declared they had resigned from the Legislature. Their terms expire Dec. 1, next. Boone continues to act in Sidener's office.

ATTEMPTED PRISON DELIVERY FOILED AT PHILADELPHIA

Deputy Warden Discovers Tunnel
Leading From Cell to Within Few Feet of Outer Wall.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—An attempted jail delivery was frustrated early today at the Eastern State Penitentiary by Deputy Warden Charles Santee, who discovered a tunnel leading from the cell of Louis Olestein, alias Harry Lewis, and Harry Watson, alias George Francis Gorman, to within a few feet of the outer wall of the prison. The tunnel extended under the prison yard and probably would have been completed tonight, when it is believed the escape of many convicts had been planned.

About a ton of dirt had been excavated by Olestein and Watson, who it is estimated, had been at work on the tunnel more than a month with implements stolen from the stone pile in the prison yard. Disposal of the dirt was accomplished by packing it in small bags and gradually dumping it down a drain pipe in their cell. Stone encountered in the tunnel was broken into small pieces, concealed by the convicts on their persons and thrown in dirt pile in the yard.

For light in their underground work, the prisoners utilized a tin tooth powder can, from which the top had been removed and pieces of rag twisted in the shape of a wick, similar to a miner's lamp. As fuel they used oil stolen from the machine shop.

The tunnel consisted of a drop of 18 feet below the cell floor and extended under the driveway in the direction of Fairmount avenue. Floor boards in the corner of the cell had been cut with jagged blades.

Watson is serving a term of five to 10 years for larceny and Olestein is serving from nine to 10 years for manslaughter.

PRIVATE SLEUTH IS GIVEN 60 DAYS IN 'TORTURE' CASE

Indianapolis Detective Named Accomplice in Kidnaping Slayer of Louisville Broker.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 11.—Frank Cordell, Indianapolis private detective, charged with complicity in the kidnaping of William Gates, slayer of Richard Heaton, broker, in an alleged "torture house" here, was convicted in Criminal Court yesterday and sentenced to 60 days in jail.

Cordell's defense was that he was unaware of Heaton's plan to kidnap Gates when he came to Louisville at Heaton's suggestion to obtain work as a truck driver. He testified he was led to believe

Gates had removed merchandise from a warehouse owned by Heaton. He knew the slain man, he testified as "Peter Brooks." Gates testified at his trial that he shot Heaton, his erstwhile friend and former employer, after the latter had prepared to perform a mutilation operation upon him. Gates was acquitted.

$5,000,000 Beach Hotel Planned.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 11.—The

Brighton Beach Hotel, famous haunt of leading sportsmen of a past generation, is to be replaced by a new $5,000,000 hotel and convention hall, according to plans made public today. The project is in the hands of the Brooklyn Realty Association. The hotel was built in 1878. It enjoyed its greatest reputation when racing was at its height at Brighton Beach, and great crowds were attracted to its promenade and dining room.

Warsaw Police Find Bombs.
By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, April 11.—Police have unearthed a store of bombs and explosives, among which were 23 missiles of power sufficient to cause an explosion similar to that which wrecked the citadel some time ago. The authorities believed the explosives were prepared by communists with a view to causing trouble on the first of May.

Basic Reasons Why You Save when you buy Bond's Tailored Clothes

- 1 We sell the entire output of our three big tailor plants direct to the wearer — you save the middleman's profit.
- 2 Bond's vast volume of sales in 16 big distributing stations cuts the cost of doing business to the minimum.
- 3 Bond's cash basis of doing business eliminates all credit losses—you don't pay for the fellow who forgets to pay.
- 4 We have no delivery charges to add to the cost of your garment—because we have no delivery system.
- 5 Doing a tremendous volume of business, we are in a position to buy better wools for less—and you derive the benefit.

It is Bond's desire to tailor the finest clothes that can be produced—right in our own tailor plants—to sell these garments through our own outlet stores at a small margin of profit over the actual cost to make—a price that is lower by far—material and tailoring considered—than any clothes in America today. We know whereof we speak and stand ready to prove it!

If you want a real tailored suit or topcoat—smartly styled—perfectly fitted—and if you want to pay for clothing value only—no frills—such as middleman's profits—delivery costs or credit losses, frankly speaking—if you want your clothing dollar to reach out further and guarantee you better clothes for less—then buy your clothes at Bond's.

TOOK BLAME FOR JAIL PLOT TO SHIELD FELLOW PRISONER

Convicted Man, on Way to Prison, Confesses to Sheriff and Says Are Pleased.

While conveying Elmer Munson, alias Harold Swanson, rapid-fire check passer of Illinois to the penitentiary Monday, Sheriff Sowell of Jersey County learned an interesting secret from his prisoner. Munson confessed that it was not he who, as he told first, sawed the bars of the county jail at Jerseyville a few weeks ago, but a fellow prisoner, and forger, Charles P. Harrison. Munson told Sheriff Sowell he had taken the blame for the attempted jail delivery out of sympathy for Harrison's wife and children, but that later Harrison "double-crossed" him. Munson said Harrison's wife had slipped 12 saws to her husband while visiting him, and that the saws were under the floor of Harrison's cell. When the sheriff returned to Jerseyville he told Harrison to change cells. With the help of plumbiers, he searched beneath the floor and found a bundle of 12 saws. Harrison then admitted he had sawed the bars into and then sawed it to cover the break. Harrison had been recommended for a parole, after he had been found guilty of check forging and sentenced to serve from one to 10 years in the penitentiary, but Sheriff Sowell has written Circuit Judge Smith of Springfield of Harrison's part in the attempted jail delivery, and recommending that the parole be canceled.

MOVE TO HAVE HANGING CHANGED FROM GOOD FRIDAY

State's Attorney Lindauer of Belleville yesterday learned that

Father Harrington of the Catholic negro mission in East St. Louis has made a plea that a court order be entered changing the date for the hanging of Arnold Ruppert, negro, under sentence to die on the gallows April 18 in Belleville, for murder, April 18 is Good Friday, and Father Harrington, who has been selected by Ruppert to accompany him to the gallows when he is executed, states that he is loath to do so on Good Friday.

Judge Borders sentenced Ruppert after a jury found him and James Deans, another negro, guilty of killing William Owens, a white man, in East St. Louis, last December. Owens was shot and killed when he started to run away after being held up by two negroes, Deans, found guilty jointly with Ruppert, is serving a life term in the Chester prison.

DECISION FOR REALTY MAN IN SUIT FOR PROFIT ON DEAL

Seller of Apartments Knew Price Was $8500 More Than He Received, Court Holds.

A decision in favor of M. C. Rhodes, a realty dealer, was rendered by Circuit Judge Frey in the suit of Mr. and Mrs. John Craig to recover $8500 growing out of the sale of apartments at 3521 Waterman avenue and 406-418 Clara avenue, of which they were owners.

Rhodes was their agent and represented, it was alleged, that the purchase price was $103,000, although the actual consideration was $111,500, the purchaser being M. J. Yawitz. The amount sued for was the difference.

Part of the consideration was in deeds of trust. The court found that the evidence did not sustain the charge of misrepresentation, as it appeared Craig had seen documents, or at least had knowledge of them, showing what the actual purchase price was. The evidence disclosed, the court said, that Craig made a profit of $28,000 in the transaction after owning the property a few months.

The sale to Yawitz was last June Rhodes' commission was $2900 and another realty dealer also received a commission in the same amount.

Assaulted by Strikers.

Gus Tetsloff, 38, a painting contractor of 2151 Helen avenue, St. Louis County, told police he was assaulted by six striking union painters and severely beaten when at work on a job at 454 North Kings-highway yesterday afternoon. He had hired nonunion painters.

TWO ARMY TANKS GUARDING KENTUCKY MINING TOWN

Guardsmen There to Prevent Further Outbreaks Now Protected From Snipers in Hills.

Two army tanks from Covington today are occupying commanding positions of the property of the Liberty Coal and Coke Co. at Sta-right Creek, the scene of a week's warfare between soldiers and persons who would prevent the operation of the mine.

One of the tanks sits on top of a large pile of slate, where the gunners command a full sweep of the whole country. To the right of the tank is the spot, where a miner was slain last week and within easy range is the densely wooded stretch of mountain which had concealed marksmen who intermittently have been firing into the village.

Heretofore guardsmen were exposed to the direct rifle fire while standing beside their posts at the machine guns. Snipers from the mountains could fire directly at them and then dart back into the shadows or hide behind rocks for protection. With the tanks in position, however, the guardsmen can sit within with safety and command the entire situation. The tank is equipped with machine guns, and sharpshooters can be brought into any point on the mountain with great accuracy. According to Maj. James E. Dwyer, who is in charge of battalion headquarters, the other tank took up a position in the camp itself, where it can be brought into immediate action in the event of an attack.

PUBLISHER OF ART MAGAZINE IS TREATED FOR POISONING

Boris Vladimir Shermetyeff in Hospital After Taking an Overdose of Drug.

Boris Vladimir Shermetyeff, who held forth here as a Russian Count and published three issues of "The Nucleus," a magazine devoted to the advancement of art, is in city hospital in a critical condition as a result of having taken an overdose of veronal bromide at his home, 943 Laurel avenue, last night.

Shermetyeff was arrested at Hotel Statler about two years ago on complaint of Roy Gerber & Co. of Chicago, importers of foodstuffs, who charged that Shermetyeff had embezzled $700 of the company's funds. He gave the name of Wolf Losen on that occasion. He explained that the $700 had been taken from him when he was under the influence of an overdose of veronal some time previously.

He said he had arranged with the company to repay the amount out of his salary, but was discharged, and his arrest followed.

He arrived at his home about 6:30 p. m. yesterday and went immediately to his room. Five hours later Mrs. Mary Pige, at whose home he roomed, investigated and found him unconscious. He had complained of a severe headache.
She summoned a physician, who ordered him sent to the city hospital.

ENGLAND UNVEILS MEMORIAL TO VICTIMS OF AIRSHIP ZR-2

By the Associated Press.

HULL, England, April 11.—A memorial to the American and British airmen killed in the loss of the dirigible ZR-2 in 1921, was unveiled here today by Air Marshal Sir Vyell Vyvian, and dedicated by the Bishop of Hull.

The memorial is in the form of a Celtic cross 16 feet high and with two bastions on either side. A bronze plaque on the right bears the names of the British dead and in the center is a dedicatory bronze tablet inscribed:

"To the glory of God and in memory of the officers and men of the Royal Navy and of the Rigid Air Detachment of the United States Navy, members of the staffs of the National Physical Laboratory and of the royal airship works, lost in the airship ZR-2 (ZR-2) August 24, 1921."

KNIGHT APPOINTMENT DEBATED

Senators Hold Secret Session but Fail to Reach Vote.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—After repeated delays, the Senate took up in secret session yesterday the nomination of Samuel Knight of San Francisco to be special Government counsel in California oil land cases, but failed to reach a vote. Senator Shortridge (Rep.), California, who recommended
Knight's appointment to President Coolidge, held the floor throughout the hour and a half the subject was under consideration.

Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana,
"prosecutor" of the oil committee,
is leading the fight against Knight
on the ground that he is retained as counsel for certain Rockefeller interests. The Montana Senator was successful in his fight in the committee, which voted eight to two to report the nomination adversely.

$30,000 HOLDUP A "FAKE"

Kansas Said to Have Confessed Story Told Police Was False.

TULSA, Ok., April 11.—Results of an investigation into the personal and business affairs of B.
F. Ellington of Topeka, Kan., revealed here today, indicate that Ellington's $30,000 robbery, reported to the police here last October, was false, the police announce. The night of Oct. 12, 1923, Ellington reported to police here that two men had held him up and taken a satchel containing $30,000 in cash and $40,000 in bonds.

Ellington's report came under suspicion, and his creditors started an investigation. A private detective obtained a confession from Ellington that the robbery was a fake, police said today.

M'CRAY JURY AT DEADLOCK

Resumes Deliberations in Case of Indiana Governor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 11.—
The jury in the trial of Gov. Mc-Cray, charged with embezzlement of State funds, which was unable to reach a verdict last night, resumed its deliberations today. The case was given to the jury at 2:22
p. m. yesterday and deliberations were in progress until 10:30 p. m., when members reported to the bailiff they desired to go to bed.
Judge Chamberlain granted the jurors permission to retire and announced court would convene at 9 a. m. today. Persons who waited for a verdict predicted the jury would be unable to agree with the probability that the division would be in favor of acquittal.

Traction Line Blamed for Crash.

EGAN GANGSTERS SEEKING RENARD "DEAD OR ALIVE"

Police Also Looking for Him in Mail Robbery Case on Indictment of Federal Jury.

BAIL BONDS TOTALING $47,000 INVOLVED

His Absence Making It Hard for Five Others to Obtain $60,000 Bonds on Mail Robbery Charge.

Ray Renard, Egan gangster, is being sought by the police, and some other Egan gangsters are hoping the police find him. If the police fail, the Eganites will look for him themselves. In fact, they are believed to be making a search now, and there are reports that a reward is out for anyone who captures Renard, "dead or alive."

Renard, who has just been indicted by the Federal grand jury, with five others, on charges of participation in the downtown mail truck robbery of April 2, 1933, is now under $47,000 bonds, which his gang friends helped him to furnish. The report that he has jumped these bonds was the worst news the Eganites have heard for some time.

Hard on Other Eganites.

If Renard's bondsmen incur forfeitures in the two cases now covered by the bonds, it will be hard hereafter for any of the Egan crew to make a bond. In fact, the five other Eganites indicted in the mail robbery case are all in the city jail today, because nobody has been found to sign their bonds, fixed by Federal Judge Farris at $60,000 each.

The courts do not know officially that Renard has jumped his bonds, one of $7000 here and one of $40,000 in Springfield, Ill. Neither of the bonds is overdue at present, and until a bond fails due, it is no concern of the court what the defendant does with himself. However, the $7000 bond here is to be called within 30 days, for the Federal Court of Appeals has affirmed the conviction for theft from an interstate shipment, on which Judge Farris gave Renard a seven-year sentence to Leavenworth prison. The Springfield bond, which is in the postoffice robbery case at Pocahtontas, Ill., has some time to run, the jury having disagreed in the first trial.

Faces Another $60,000 Bond.

If the police find Renard before he falls into the hands of his former gang comrades, he too will be held under $60,000 bond in the mail robbery case, and the Egan crowd will not care whether he finds a bondsman or not.

Frank (Cotton) Eppelsheimer was the fifth of the six indicted men to be taken by the police. He was found at 11:15 last night, in bed at his home, 1423 Ogden avenue, Wellston. He says he is 19 years old, and a carpenter.

Of the others, Gus Dietmeyer and Steve Ryan were arrested Tuesday, and Louis (Red) Smith and David (Chippy) Robinson were arrested yesterday. The fact that all had been indicted on the mail robbery charge was made known after the arrest of Smith and Robinson. When the four were arraigned, Horace L. Dyer, special prosecutor, asked that their bonds be fixed at $75,000 each, and Judge Farris made the requirement $60,000 each. On his usual basis of fixing bonds, at the rate of $2000, a year of possible sentence, the bonds would have been $50,000.

The offense of threatening a mail messenger with a deadly weapon carries, on conviction, a sentence of 25 years' imprisonment, which the trial judge has no power to increase or diminish. Of the two men thus far convicted in the mail robbery case, "Whitney" Doering got a 35-year sentence, the extra five years being on another connected charge, and David Weisman 25 years. Doering was killed in an affray while at liberty on $50,000 appeal bond. In the robbery, $367,174 cash and negotiable industrial bonds, and $2,139,900 unassigned Federal Land Bank bonds, were taken.

The Land Bank bonds and about one-half the negotiable bonds and cash were recovered by postoffice inspectors from Doering's bungalow in Richmond Heights. The six indictments voted by the Federal grand jury last Tuesday are understood to have resulted from attempts to dispose of some of the stolen bonds. A. D. Bunsen, chief inspector, and the inspectors of the St. Louis office, have been watching this phase of the case closely.

Baby Poors Acid on Self.

Gayle Horton, 14 months old, daughter of Jacob Horton, 627A Hickory street, is at city hospital in a critical condition from burns suffered yesterday afternoon, when she spilled a bottle of carbolic acid over her legs. The little girl took the bottle from a box on a closet floor, unobserved.

'AIRPLANE BOOTLEGGER' HELD UP

Fits Up $7500 in Liberty Bonds in Lieu of Cash Bail.

CHICAGO, April 11.—P. David Pinkinson, long sought by Federal officials on charges that he is the "airplane bootlegger" responsible for much of the fine liquor brought into Chicago from Cuba via airplane, surrendered yesterday. Resplendent with an array of diamonds he strolled into the court of United States Commissioner H. C. Beidler, revealed his identity and asked what his bond would be.

Learning that a $7500 cash bond was called for Pinkinson counted off the required sum in Liberty bonds, deprecating what he called a "bum rap."

He denied transporting liquor in his airplane.

58 MOTORISTS PAY $3 COSTS

Parking automobiles on Olive street in violation of the new traffic code cost 58 motorists $3 each in Police Court today. No fines were assessed, the sum of $3 representing court costs only. The no-fine policy will continue until motorists have had time to become familiar with the anti-parking rule.

Assistant City Counselor Gayer said. A notable feature today was the absence of continuances and nolle prosequi actions. All of the 58 paid their fines.

GRAND JURY WITNESS PUT UNDER ARREST

It Is Understood Earl Ten Eyck Refused to Answer Questions About Killing.

The grand jury investigation of the murder of Gerard B. Cleary, president of the Guarantee Service Co., was halted yesterday by the arrest of one of the witnesses, after he had been in the grand jury room for more than half an hour.

Presuming that the witness, Earl Ten Eyck, 24, of 2913 Henrietta street, a service car driver, had refused to testify, one of the detectives who accompanied him to Police Headquarters asked him why he had not answered the questions of the grand jurors.

"Oh, well, they can't hold me more than 10 hours," was Ten Eyck's reply.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Schnelder, who ordered the arrest, declined to state the reason, but it is understood that Ten Eyck refused to answer questions. The prisoner was released today by order of First Assistant Circuit Attorney Wilson, who said that he had conferred with Ten Eyck and his attorney. They had promised more amenable behavior and Ten Eyck will testify again before the grand jury Tuesday.

The Killing of Cleary. Cleary, it will be recalled, was shot and killed in a saloon-cabaret at 4100 Gravois avenue, March 31, when he attempted to act as peace-maker in a fight between Arthur Hartman, 27, of 4427 Wilcox avenue, and Oliver Senti Jr., 24, of 4329 Junata street, son of the City Counselor.

Hartman and Senti had engaged in a quarrel because Miss Viola Brennecke, of 3942 Winnebago street, a telephone operator, who had gone to the cabaret with Senti, danced with Hartman, her "old beau," and later had permitted Hartman to escort her home.

Hartman's version of the quarrel was that when he returned to the cabaret after Ten Eyck, his companion of the evening, had taken him and Miss Brennecke to the latter's home in Ten Eyck's automobile, Senti picked a fight with him in the darkened barroom of the saloon. He said that Ten Eyck returned to the saloon with him but that the latter was not involved in the fight that followed.

Hartman's Version of Shooting. While the fight was in progress, Hartman said, a friend of Senti's, named Senti and the friend were both beating him, he said, when someone whom he did not recognize slipped a revolver into his hand. Clearly, he said, then approached from the dance hall and said: "Give me that gun or I'll break your head." Cleary continued to advance and Hartman shot him in the abdomen.

Ten Eyck, who was represented by counsel at the coroner's inquest, declined to testify. Hartman was released on a $10,000 bond, after the coroner had ordered him held for homicide.

WIFE HELD FOR MAN'S DEATH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 11.—Mrs. Mollie Jeffries, 46 years old, charged with the poisoning of her husband, John H. Jeffries, 61, was bound over to the May term of District Court yesterday afternoon after preliminary hearing. Her bond was fixed at $2500.

P. W. Christiansen, painter, who appeared as a witness yesterday, testified that Mrs. Jeffries had told him that she was going to get rid of her husband about the first of April.

C. R. Pulley, in charge of janitors at Kansas University, testified that Jeffries had appeared downcast about a week before he became ill and, when questioned, admitted his domestic problems were worrying him, and another man was concerned.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN RIVER IDENTIFIED

Victim Was a 'Mr. Stienmeyer' of 615 Walnut Street, Jeweler Says.

While police changed theories today as to the cause of death of a man whose body was recovered from the Mississippi River near Chouteau avenue Tuesday, the body was identified as that of a man named Stienmeyer of 615 Walnut street, who was about 60 years old.

The identification was made by Henry A. Koke, a jeweler, at 2520 North Fourteenth street. Koke said the man, who acted rather peculiar at times, had been a customer but had not visited the store for the past two months. Koke did not know the man's first name or whether he had a family.

The body was sighted about 200 yards from the Missouri shore, between Chouteau avenue and Gratiot street, by the crew of the ferryboat Homer C. Wright, and hauled aboard. The only property found in the clothing was a spectacle case bearing the name of Koke, and this led to the identification. Number 615 Walnut is the address of a hotel.

Autopsy Report.
Dr. Theodore Carriere, who performed the autopsy, reported the man apparently had been crushed to death, perhaps by an automobile, and police advanced the theory the body might have been carried to the river and thrown in. Death was not due to drowning. The ribs on both sides had been crushed and the heart, liver and spleen ruptured. External marks of violence were a bruise on the right chest and a fresh scar over the right ear. There had been a slight cerebral hemorrhage.

Detective Sergeant Linder of the Homicide Squad, who investigated the case, today discounted the theory that the man had been killed by an automobile and advanced the theory he suffered his fatal injuries in a fall or jump from the Free Bridge, which is just north of where the body was found. It is possible, he reported, that the man suffered a hemorrhage while walking on the railroad deck of the bridge and fell through the ties to the water below. The railroad deck is not used by trains, and pedestrians are said to occasionally use it, despite the danger.

No Water in Lungs.
The body, which had been in the water less than an hour, was found at 5:30 p. m. At this time the upper deck of the bridge is usually crowded with pedestrians and automobiles. Linder reported, and a man could hardly be thrown from it into the river without someone witnessing the act.

The main objection to acceptance of Linder's theory is that the injuries were greater than are usual in cases where men fall from the bridge into the river. Dr. Carriere said today he had never heard of such injuries being suffered in a fall from the bridge, but said it was not impossible. The fracture of the ribs, he pointed out, probably caused the internal ruptures. There was no water in the lungs or stomach.

"Stienmeyer" was not registered on the books of the hotel at 615 Walnut and the clerk there, after looking at the body in the morgue, said he did not know the man. Employees of a lodging house at 617 Walnut and at restaurants in the vicinity also were unable to identify the body.

CREAGER DENIES CHARGES IN LAND FRAUD HEARING

Texas G. O. P. Committeeman and Senator Heflin in Tilt During Senatorial Quiz.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—More thunder reverberated through the Senate committee room where the investigation into alleged land frauds in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas continued yesterday, when R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from that State, used his vantage point as a spectator to denounce in full tones as "maliciously false" an assertion by James R. Page, Kansas City attorney, who is assisting Senator Heflin, (Dem.), of Alabama, committee prosecutor.

Page had charged that the land interests of Creager, who is charged by Senator Heflin with being implicated in the alleged frauds, would "not allow evidence to be presented to a grand jury."

"That's false—maliciously false," Creager broke in, from his spectator's seat.
The Texas national committeeman was again heard from a minute later when he flatly contradicted an assertion by Senator Heflin, during a discussion of the water supply in the Rio Grande Valley, that it was "not there in 1921."

"I will call you when I want you," the Senator shouted back at Creager, adding that he could leave the room if he "couldn't conduct himself properly."

George A. Hill Jr. of Houston, Tex., counsel for Creager, read into the record testimonial letters as to Creager's standing from a number of prominent Texans.

Oil Boom Town Swept by Fire.
By the Associated Press.

ELDORADO, Ark., April 11.—A score of business houses, the city jail, postoffice and a motion picture theater were destroyed by a fire which swept the business district of Norpleet, oil boom town seven miles north of this city, last night. The fire originated in a rooming house and was believed to have been caused by a cigarette. The town has no fire department and a "bucket line," aided by a heavy rain, combatted the flames. The loss was estimated at $75,000.

MISSOURI MEANS "THE LOG BOAT," NOT "BIG MUDDY"

Curator of Resources Museum Corrects a Popular Impression of Indian Word.

Missourians have long accepted
"Big Muddy" as the meaning of the Indian word which is used as the name of the state and of the Missouri River. Now rises Curator A.
C. Burrill, of the Missouri Resources Museum at Jefferson City, to explain that Missouri means
"The Log Boat."

"Big Muddy," he explains, is merely the nickname applied by pioneer Missourians when they first saw the yellow waters pouring into the clear Mississippi. Missouri was the name applied to the people who lived along the yellow river. It was their Main street. In boats hollowed from logs they moved up and down the stream and the neighboring tribes spoke of them as the "Missouri," meaning
"The Log Boat," or "The People of
the Log Boat."

Burrill heard of the error in a recent study of the Missouri Indians and communicated with the United States Bureau of Ethnology, which replied that there was no doubt about the meaning. He has secured one of the log boats from a collector at St. Joseph and it will be placed in the museum with a card explaining the meaning of the word.

He laughed at Kellogg's Bran!

Now read this letter of thanks from Mr. Kane. It speaks for itself.
Remember, it is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran that it was so effective in his case—just as it has been in thousands of others. Only ALL bran can produce 100 per cent results.

My dear friend:

Imagine a young man weighing 165 pounds in the course of a few months packed in bed, a weakling weighing 74 pounds. An elderly lady whom I knew since I was a kid paid me what she thought was a last visit. Upon being told of my plight she immediately mentioned your product for such an ailment. Maybe some of us didn't look upon her views very lightly. . . . It was to laugh!

My dear friend, I am still laughing . . .
not at your product, but because I am able to. I am telling you and the world at large, "Eat Kellogg's Krumbled Bran!" It should be called "Constipation's worst enemy." I owe you my heartfelt gratitude.
I can talk, and whenever the opportunity presents itself, my mouth is always full of bran—Kellogg's Krumbled. Wishing you countless days of progress, I am

Yours for success,

John M. Kane,

CONFESSED SLAYER OF GROCER AFTER HOLDUP IS INDICTED

Thomas B. Howell Charged With First Degree Murder for Shooting Edward Bauer.

First degree murder and first degree robbery were charged in indictments returned yesterday against Thomas B. Howell, 28 years old, in the case of Edward Bauer, 62, who was fatally shot March 27, following a holdup in his grocery at 2537 Winnebago street.

Howell, who is in jail awaiting trial, at first denied the shooting but after having been identified by several witnesses, including Bauer, he confessed in a signed statement to the Circuit Attorney.

He said he left the home of his sister at 2709 California avenue to visit his estranged wife and their three children at 355 Chouteau avenue. Having only a small amount of money, he dropped in at Bauer's grocery and asked a clerk to lend him $5. The clerk refused, he said, and he then held up the clerk with a revolver and took $24.08 from the cash register. Bauer pursued him from the store and was shot just before he escaped. Howell fled to his sister's home, where he later was arrested.

ALBERT VON HOFFMAN TAKEN ON CHARGE OF SPEEDING

Auto Club Head Happens to Pass Traffic Captain Gerk When on His Way Downtown.

Albert von Hoffman of 3811 Flora place, president of the St. Louis Automobile Club, happened to pass Traffic Captain Gerk as both were on their way downtown this morning. The Captain thought that Von Hoffman passed him a bit too fast. So he gave chase from Twelfth street and Park avenue along Twelfth to Chouteau avenue.

"What's your hurry?" asked Gerk.

"I'm in a hurry to get to my office," Von Hoffman replied.

"My speedometer read 30 an hour. Guess you'll have to stop a minute and go to the station."

Von Hoffman was booked as a speeder at Police Headquarters and permitted to sign his own bond.

France for Six-Year Terms.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, April 11.—The Chamber of Deputies, if the Senate ratifies a measure passed yesterday on the eve of adjournment before election, will hereafter be elected on the same terms as the American Senate, namely, for six-year terms, one-third of the Deputies being up for re-election every two years. Heretofore all Deputies have been elected at the same time for terms of four years.

LACLEDE GAS CO. VALUED AT $31,336,736.82

The Company Had Contended for Valuation of $41,670,473.50 on Its Properties in St. Louis.

PROBABLY MEANS
CUT IN RATES

Report of State Public Service Accountants
Is Submitted to the Commission.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—A book valuation of $31,336,736.82 for the Laclede Gas and Light Co. of St. Louis is fixed in a report of accountants, which was presented to the commission this afternoon. The company had been contending for a valuation of $41,670,473.50. This report foreshadows a substantial cut in St. Louis gas rates, but what cut may be made remains to be determined after a final valuation is fixed by the commission.

The commission's engineers are making a physical appraisal of Laclede property, and their valuation report is not expected for several months. Their report and the one submitted today will have to be reconciled by the commission, which will then fix the valuation for rate-making purposes.

Scope of the Report.

The accountants' report takes into consideration earnings of the gas company, the book value placed by the company on property and securities, and other factors, while the engineers appraise only tangible property.

From the company's figures, the commission's accountants struck off $10,333,736.68, as "not properly chargeable to plant account." The items eliminated included $5,475,000 out of $7,500,000 common stock issued in 1889 to H. B. Hollins & Co., in consideration of stock promotion, and 2,491,461 first mortgage 5 per cent 30-year gold bonds issued in 1889 to stockholders of the Laclede company. The accountants making the report were T. J. Murphy, George B. Cole, A. L. Houlahan, H. W. Ross and H. B. Lysaght.

The final valuation will, of course, be subject to review by the courts, which the company probably would ask. The Laclede company's present rates were computed on a tentative valuation of $31,000,000 fixed by the commission. Courts have held that public utilities are entitled to a "reasonable return" on their investment, and the Missouri commission has considered about 7 per cent a fair return. In recent years the company has presented inventory and appraisal figures ranging from $42,000,000 to $69,000,000. The company's earnings for 1935 were $3,245,555, or about 10.7 of the tentative valuation.

Dividends Paid Last Year.

Last year the company paid a 5 per cent dividend on $2,500,000 of preferred stock, 14 per cent in dividends on $19,700,000 of common stock and bond interest, and had $127,812 left to place in the common stock dividend reserve.

SPAGHETTI EATING TITLE IS CAPTURED BY 100 FEET

Championship Goes to Kansas City While St. Louis Entry Is Third.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—Alfred Scudiero, a prominent spaghetti eater, devoured his way to victory last night in a heated race to the bottom of a spaghetti bowl in the Italian-American restaurant, Fifth and Walnut streets. Scudiero, although slightly ill at the moment of victory, swallowed a bromo seltzer and accepted the congratulations of Frank Ruffolo, the beaten, out-eaten champion, and Joe Cassano, the challenger from St. Louis.

More than 300 enthusiastic votaries of spaghetti witnessed the voracious contest and cheered in loud though muffled tones between mouthfuls. Strange to say, the audience also ate during the championship race. At first the audience nearly set the pace; later it lapsed into more dignified and less hasty manners and ate for the love of it.

Ruffolo, unfortunately, had eaten a meal just before the contest, and was not in good condition when he was called to the plate to meet the challenger. Joe Cassano, of St. Louis, Cassano, unaccustomed to Kansas City spaghetti, made a bad beginning and a premature ending. The strands were too flexible and his tongue became entangled. He resigned and withdrew from the room in embarrassment. Scudiero was the dark and, apparently, empty horse of the occasion. He won by more than 100 feet. Judges gave him a score of 127 feet.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say:

"Chipso is the greatest labor-saver
I have ever found"

Grocers tell us that, in all their retail experience, they have never known a product to sell as fast as Chipso.

There must be a real reason for such a phenomenal success.

There is not only one, but there are a dozen. Let Chipso users tell them in their own words.

A Louisville woman saves
2 hours every washday

This woman does the washing for six people every week. Our representative took down her comments word for word:

"I got a package of Chipso the other day, and tried it on my washing. Believe me, it was a big washing, too. It's wonderful: that washing would have taken me four hours normally, but I had it hanging up to dry in about two hours, and my clothes and bed-linen were as white as snow and looked like new. Besides, I wasn't worn out as I usually am on washday. Chipso is the most marvelous thing in the way of soap I have ever tried, and I think I've tried them all. You can count on me buying Chipso from now on."

This Boston housewife uses
Chipso for everything

She was talking with a grocer. This is what she said:

"I'm glad you sell Chipso. I've become tired of feeling that I must buy a soap of some form for washing dishes, another for the washing machine, another for this and another for that. Do you know that Chipso will do wonderfully for all purposes where a household soap is needed? You can't sell me anything at twice the price that will do half as well."

You can buy Chipso at any good grocery. Two sizes, both large. Packed in blue and orange boxes. Try it today.

SIGNORA MARCONI GETS DIVORCE, WEDS AGAIN
Decree Obtained in Fiume—Marconi Expected to Marry 20-Year-Old Marquise.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1924, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
ROME, April 11.—Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless, has been divorced by his wife, daughter of the British peer, Lord Inchiquin, it was learned today. Signora Marconi has already married again and the inventor is about to do so, it is said.
It had been announced that Signora Marconi's divorce petition, filed at Fiume, had been entered after the city came under Italian rule. The divorce was granted by the Italian law, forbidding divorce, prevails in Fiume.
However, it appears her petition just got in under the wire and was granted. Almost at once she married the Marquis Marignoli and is spending the honeymoon at his family place near Spoleto. The divorce was hardly a surprise. Friends of the family have expected it for some time and there has been a good deal of gossip about the inventor's domestic relations.
He was expected to marry Dorina Paola Medici di Vasella, a famous society beauty, whose doing never failed to thrill the Roman world. However, it is now said that Marconi, though in his fifties, will marry the 20-year-old daughter of the Marquis Casati di Milan. The young Marquise is scarcely known at all in society, but her father is a great sportsman and her mother used to attract a good deal of attention by walking about with parrots and strange animals for escorts.
It is said here that Marconi has either already been married in London or will be shortly. He has three daughters, the eldest almost ready to make her debut. They are now with their mother.
Friends of the inventor say he never will be content to settle down permanently with his young bride in either England or Italy, but will continue his wandering life. It is supposed, therefore, that his wife will accompany him on his voyages of experiment on his yacht.
Signora Marconi had not been so much in Roman society since the divorce was contemplated. She has resigned as lady-in-waiting to the Italian Queen.
The Marconis were married in St. George's Church, London, in March, 1905.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.
The Middle West's conference to voice its sentiment of approval of the Newton river improvement bill was opened today, with representatives from seven states in attendance.
The conferees were drafting plans for pushing the bill in Congress which proposes $75,000,000 in improvements of the Missouri, Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

Cited for Gallantry in 1899.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JUNCTION CITY, Kan., April 11. Brigadier-General L. King, commandant at Fort Riley, has just received notification from Washington that by direction of the President he has been cited in War Department orders for gallantry in action against insurgent forces at Paranaque, Luzon, Philippine Islands, June 10, 1899. He was then a Second Lieutenant in the Eighth Cavalry.
The action of the President entitles Gen. King to wear a silver citation star.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance of hair.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

During 1935 the Post-Dispatch printed 11,884 Wanted to Purchase "Wants"—4742 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

A White Clay

Which France perfected gave me perennial youth
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am the most talked of woman in America because of perennial youth. After 40 years as a stage star, I look like a girl of 19.

Many years ago I became the rage of New York. I made myself a queen of beauties. I did that, and I kept that beauty, by some aids that France supplied me.

Now I am taking time in a busy life to supply those helps to other women, and tell the facts about them.

Old clays and new

Many years ago France taught me the use of clay. Then clays were made and muddy, as many clays are still. But they made famous beauties of the women who employed them.

Since then French experts have perfected clay. The clay I now use is white, refined and dainty. It has added factors which bring ten-fold effects.

That new-type clay is what I offer you. I call it my White Youth Clay. Whatever clay you have used, this new clay will amaze you.

A beauty essential

THEORY AUTO KILLED
MAN SUBSTANTIATED

Witnesses Found in Case of W. E. Lanham, Who Died in Hospital April 6.

The Police Homicide Squad reports finding several witnesses to substantiate the theory that William E. Lanham, painter, of 911A North Eighteenth street, who was found critically injured in the street at Eighteenth and Carr streets April 1, was struck by an automobile, the driver of which fled from the scene. Lanham died at city hospital April 6.

Detectives questioned L. F. Lange, proprietor of a drug store at the corner where Lanham was found. Lange said he was notified of the accident by a man who rushed in his store and said a man had just been struck by a machine. Lange ran from his store, he said, and saw an automobile speeding east in Carr street. Lanham's wife, Mrs. Irene Lanham, told police her husband regained consciousness for a moment on April 4, while she sat at his bedside at city hospital, and told her he had been struck by a machine.

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict in the case.

Drivers of Two Autos Flee After Injuring Two Children.

Police are searching for drivers of two automobiles who feloniously fled from the scenes of accidents after striking children yesterday.

The driver of an automobile which struck Margaret Watson, 7 years old, of 5820 Enright avenue, at Union boulevard and Cates avenue at 5 p. m., fled east in Cates avenue. The girl suffered an injured left leg.

The chauffeur of a Dodge touring car which struck Albert Kates, 3-year-old negro, 2517A Walnut street, at Jefferson avenue and Walnut street at 4 p. m., escaped north on Jefferson avenue. Albert is in a serious condition at City Hospital No. 2, suffering from internal injuries.

Others injured yesterday were: Mrs. Corinne Bishop, 35, of 1125 South Thirtieth street, internally hurt when struck by the automobile of Patrolman Thomas Wagner in front of 1215 Hickory street at 9:30 p. m.

Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, 25, of 2917 Easton avenue, compound fracture of the right leg when a motor cycle on which she was riding was struck by an automobile at Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue at 8:30 p. m.

Edward Devine, 27, of 914 Chambers street, fractured left arm when struck at 10:30 p. m. by a coupe at Broadway and Robert avenue.

Bernard Stanley, 12, 2527 Castleman avenue, lacerations of the face and head when struck at 9:50 p. m. by an automobile while crossing Shaw avenue at Thirty-ninth street.

Woman's Skull Fractured in Fall From a Wagon.

Mrs. Sophia Long, 72, of 5528 Jennings road, suffered a fractured skull at 4 p. m. yesterday when she fell from her wagon in front of the Deer Street Police Station.

Paul Harris, 6, of 1825A McNulty place, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when caught in the rear wheel of a milk wagon near his home.

FIRST WOMAN TO DEFEND MAN IN "OLD BAILEY"

Mrs. Helena F. Normanton has just obtained the acquittal of the first man ever defended by a woman lawyer in Old Bailey Court, London, while his two co-defendants, represented by men lawyers, were convicted. Mrs. Normanton was the first woman to be admitted to the Middle Temple, becoming a barrister only a few hours after the enactment of the "Sex Disqualification Act."

NO MORE SHINY SUITS

The Salvation Army in Chicago has just obtained a new device which renaps shiny clothing, and is using it to rehabilitate the hundreds of old suits which it gathers up and distributes to the poor. The machine consists of a roller with 136,000 fine steel wires, each having a tiny hook on the end. These penetrate the fabric and bring up the fibers, making a new nap.

SAYINGS OF SOLOMON

By HEWLAND

VERILY, verily, my son, be a magician which performeth strange things. For lo, it transpireth into an indifferent provider; a lover into a deserter; a sweetheart into a censor, and a siren into a traitor. It taketh the crown of thorns and putteth worn spots on the elbows of kings. It taketh the marble of a woman's hair and leaveth callouses on her hands. It transporteth a man and setteth him to moving the furnace. It transporteth a woman and setteth her down in the mire. It turneth a king into a daily duty, and a quarrel from an enemy into a painful certainty. It turneth a woman's run her fingers through a man's locks into a yearning and a man's eagerness to confide EVERYTHING into a determination to admit NOTHING to her. It taketh the rice-powder from a man's coat-lapel and putteth soup stains in their place. It transporteth a woman from a fashion-plate into a wearisome. It turneth a man's hand will "let him take her out" into the fear that she will not. It turneth a woman's hand will endow her with a halo into the fear that she will not. It turneth a woman's hand into an accepted FACT; and a man from uncertainty into a "regular fixture."

Yea, verily, it transporteth into a grub; a wild bachelor into a tame domestic; a blind man; love into endurance, and dalliance into love!

Therefore, my Beloved woman awaken after the honeymoon to find her husband a Total Stranger, and every man to discover that he is a complete Surprise.

How You Can Make A Large or Small Kitchen Efficient

By Wanda Barton

IT requires as much system and knowledge to work in a very small as in a very large kitchen. In the former, all things should be centralized within reaching distance. In the latter, they should be so arranged as to save steps and unnecessary labor. This requires an efficient understanding of housework, the best methods of doing it and the value of the time needed for its accomplishment. Perhaps the most perfect example of the small kitchen is that on the big railroad dining-cars, where the tiny kitchen has its cold and hot side, and where three or four workers must learn to do their work expeditiously without getting in each other's way or losing their tempers, feeding dozens of people in record time.

The housewife is never pushed to quite this extremity of small space, yet many of the ideas made use of in dining-car kitchens can be utilized also in the small home kitchen. For instance, everything is under or over the place where it is likely to be needed. All things used about the stove are racked beside and above it within easy reach. Dishes for serving are piled on a low shelf in graduated sizes. Nappies and serving platters are arranged in the same way, which economizes the space in a wonderful way. Other dishes, including the cups and saucers, are arranged in the same manner.

On the refrigerator or cold side, all salads, cold cuts and so on are prepared. The ice-box is there and all foods are stored there that must be kept cold. On top are bread boxes, cake closets and jams and similar food. On the hot side are the ranges and the broiler, seasoning shelves and reserve cooked foods, fats for frying and everything for the heavy part of the meals. In front of the range is a rubber runner, which prevents workers from slipping when moving about hastily. It also saves jarring and is restful to stand on. Now if the owner of the small kitchen would follow out some of these ideas in compact arrangement, her work would be more quickly and efficiently done than if it is with things piled and mixed up so that much must be moved to get at what is wanted.

Low shelves make work easy and drawers under them hold things needed in serving. Racks hold cover and cooking utensils so that they may be quickly gotten at. The under-and-over idea is worth using in storing necessary utensils.

A well-built window refrigerator box, zinc lined, is a handy thing the year around and a great relief for the small refrigerator space. Ventilation should be from the upper sash, anyway.

Now in considering a large kitchen, we find scattered closets, high shelves, and conveniences widely spread. This makes labor hard. Here, again, we must centralize by building racks under and over the places where their contents are needed. Our zinc-covered table should be on casters so that it may be drawn up to the range at serving time. Food as soon as it is dished may be placed on the tea

To see your neighbor grow rich. While you count only dear ones Whom you have purchased with good will. And yet be not envious. To look with favor at the success of your friends And imbibe their joy 'e'en as your own Without a jealous pang. To give chance to another to make a gain When you yourself might have it all. To look with pride at one who has passed you by Because he has proved a better man. To make much of simple joys And struggles as part of the game of life. To spend well but not lavishly So those who are dependent on you may not need To banish evil thoughts of others And make allowances for the weak and erring ones. To shut out the car of gossip and give it no power. To get pleasure in play with little children. To recognize the genuine ones who never fail to be human. Against the sham and glittering ones Who bid for favor by outward show. To be in touch with plain people And harken unto their philosophy of life. To be satisfied with less and have peace. Rather than strive for overmuch with strife. To find solace in the sigh of the wind And be as one with all things natural. To be honest, not because you must. And honorable because you may. To find happiness in the every day. Rather than in some far-off future time. To live and let live—to love and be loved— That is contentment.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

Miss Frances Denmore, an expert on Indian music, has been appointed to the staff of the National Museum at Washington. Miss Denmore spends her summers among various tribes studying and rewriting their music.

Mrs. Horatio N. Slater of Boston has invented a snow plow and snow remover that has enlisted the attention of the Government. The invention has been offered to Mayor Curley of Boston and it will probably be given tests there.

The youngest widow pensioner of a soldier of the War of 1812 is Mrs. A. T. Anderson of Cedar Grove, Ga., who is 64 years of age and was married at the age of 22, her husband being 86 at the time of the ceremony.

Miss Ruth Litt has been chosen by the Republican women of Nassau and Suffolk counties in New York to run against Col. Roosevelt as a candidate to the National G. O. P. Convention at Cleveland next summer.

THE HEART OF YOUR GIRL

By Wm. A. McKeever

(Noted Lecturer and Writer on Juvenile Problems.)

ALWAYS address your girl as if she were an ideal young creature—a thing she is, if you will but learn to idealize her. By refusing to recognize any so-called ill or ugliness in the manner of behavior or in the appearance of your girl, you take the first step toward calling out her divine latent energies. You realize that her ordinary blunders are but the learning processes, and you cause these to pass by your insistence on the better things ahead.

Your young daughter has a perfect right to physical comeliness, but this outer beauty must suggest refinements of heart and mind. Dress her the best you know how, avoiding all appearance of vanity and silliness. Ask her to consider for herself whether the comeliness goes entirely through the whole fabric of her character, like the figures of a well-made rug. If the attractiveness is merely on the surface as she sees it, then, remind her that you and not a few other discerning souls are wont to look into the character for attractiveness.

By addressing yourself to the latent perfection of your girl, even though she may be temporarily manifesting something very different, by speaking habitually about her ideal habits of appearance and behavior; by seeing with your own peculiar discernment the eternal abundance of physical comeliness, of sweet modesty, of kindly desire and of joyous outbursting—thus you learn to talk to the heart of your growing daughter and you teach her to visualize her own perfection.

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul," says a well-known rule of Scriptural psychology. And that is the very law about which I am writing here. By instant picturing of the latent beauty of your girl, by constantly addressing yourself to the best hidden energies of her heart and mind, the converting of the soul quietly comes to pass.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Farmer Brown's Boy Plans an Entertainment

A little fun along the way Brightens up the dullest day.

FARMER BROWN'S BOY was excited. Wouldn't you be excited if you had just met four Bears? He hurried to get back to the sugar house. Now and then he glanced back over his shoulder. He was no longer scared. At least, that is what he told himself. But every time he thought of how big and terrible Mother Bear had looked he shivered a wee bit. You see, he didn't know that that fierceness had been all a bluff on Mother Bear's part. He didn't know that she had been only pretending.

When he got back to the sugar house he told Farmer Brown all about his adventure. How Farmer Brown did laugh! But presently he became serious. "Those Bears," said he, "are likely to make us a lot of trouble. A Bear is as full of mischief as the most mischievous small boy that ever lived. They won't be able to keep away from here while we are making sugar and syrup. You remember what happened when two cubs got into this sugar house one time while we were away."

"I should say I do!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "It was the worst mess I ever saw! If two could turn things upside down the way they did I don't know what would happen if three got in here."

"Which means," said Farmer Brown, "that one of us must remain here all the time. It will not be safe to leave the sugar house alone until the season is over. Bears will do almost anything to get sweets."

Farmer Brown's Boy began to chuckle. "We'll entertain those Bears if they come around here," said he.

That evening while the sap was being boiled to make syrup and sugar Farmer Brown's Boy was very busy. He filled an empty tomato can with soft maple sugar, pressed the top back in place, fastened a wire tightly around the middle of it, and to this fastened a long, straight wire, which was made fast to a short piece of rope. Then he filled another can in the same way, but did not fasten any wire to this. He then poured a thick little syrup over both cans.

Late the next afternoon Farmer Brown's Boy went over to where he found the tell-tale footprints of the young Bears. Then he scattered on the snow some small pieces of maple sugar. He scat-

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Holder for Old Needles.

A small bottle should be kept in the machine drawer to hold broken needles. Too frequently we are careless with these broken bits or else we mix blunted needles with our good ones and cause trouble later on.

A 10-Cent Investment.

Most of us women dislike the care of the furnace on account of the condition in which it leaves our hands. A 10-cent pair of canvas gloves are convenient to keep in the basement to slip on before tending to these arduous duties and prove a great saving to the hands.

Answers to Problems.

An old tennis racket makes a good carpet beater.

A teaspoon of pulverized alum in with the stove polish will produce a brilliant luster.

A thin coating of slaking on the back of a Brussels rug will stiffen it and cause it lie flat.

If fat is put in the oven to render out, all danger of burning will be avoided and odor prevented from spreading through the house.

The President's Platform

President Coolidge says there are too many taxes added to the cost of a pair of shoes in the long journey between the producer and the consumer.

And every woman will agree with him.

The Regal Platform. Maker to Wearer, One Profit and One Price, cuts the trip from the store to the Store by shipping direct from the Regal factory into the Regal Stores.

The shoe shown on the Regal Platform is only one of sixty new Spring styles that illustrate the value that can be built into a shoe by cutting out the Wholesaler's Tax, the Retailer's Tax, and doing business direct with the consumer with One Tax instead of Three Taxes, and One Profit instead of Three Profits.

The Man on the Sandbox by

ALL OFF WITH AL
We mourn our little gold fish. Alas! he is no more. He lies a stiff and cold fish. Upon the golden shore. The kind of food on which he fed. It seems, was not nutritious. And in the morning he was dead—Poor little Aloysius!

TOMORROW'S THE DAY.
The two-game spring series between the Browns and Cards will open tomorrow. Indicating that spring is here, regardless of what the weatherman or the thermometer may have to say on the subject.

The only one who can stop it is J. Pluvius. We snap our fingers at J. Frost.

Manager George Stallings of the Rochesterers kicked off a game to the Cards by the forfeit route. Manager Stallings is in mid-season form.

Having a hail-proof tornado policy we listened to the hail rattling against the windows the other night with more or less equanimity. But was there a single window cracked? Nary a window.

However, we had a rattling good time while it lasted. Some of those hail stones were as big as ordinary hail stones.

Hail storms used to be attended by the running away of frightened horses. But they can't rattle a sliver into running away.

Luis Firpo may have retired, but it is thought that he left a call with the clerk before doing so.

CATCHING.
GREAT Scott! Whoever would have thought it. So many folks so soon had caught it. The "Home town stuff," when no one bought it. But got in print!

It is an epidemic, truly. For I myself have it unduly. The symptoms are this epic drooly. But here I stop!

QUITE SO.
The Chicago Cubs is the only major league team that trains on an island. If they ever win the pennant there will be a big demand for vacant islands.

Ben Turpin, the cross-eyed comedian, is said to be quite a tennis player in his own right. Ben crosses the opposition by hitting 'em where he 'aint looking.

The horse that threw the Prince of Wales and then stepped on his face doesn't seem to know anything about les majesties.

Fred Toney has been given his unconditional by the Cards. But as Fred had already discarded himself it doesn't mean anything.

The claim that bobbed hair causes boils on the back of the neck, the girls say is sheer nonsense.

The man on the sandbox says he knows a girl who was threatened with water on the brain so she had her head shingled.

Babe Ruth says he is not going to make any predictions this year. He'll be too busy making home runs.

A STORY FOR HUSBANDS EXCLUSIVELY.
THIS little story is meant for husbands, only. Wives, especially wives of pronounced social ambitions, are requested not to read it. Two citizens met on the street. They hadn't seen each other for months. One of them was married to a lady who figured frequently in the columns of fashionable intelligence in the newspapers. After "he" had exchanged views on things in general the other asked: "By the way, is your wife entertaining this winter?" "Not very," was the sad reply.

AFTER 3
23,000Sisler Strikes Out First Time at Bat After Hitting Two Fouls — Freigau Makes First Hit.

By J. Roy Stockton.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, April 12.—A crowd of 22,000, which overflowed the stands, greeted the Browns and Cardinals today in their exhibition game, opening the 1936 season at St. Louis.

The starting pitchers were Bill Sherdel for the Cardinals and "Shucks" Priddy for the Browns. There were many new faces among the Cardinals, and the spectators had to guess who they might be. Everybody knew little Bill Sherdel, who took his turn in hitting practice. "Hitter" Mueller, Myer and Bottomley were easily recognized, but there were many newcomers among the 25 men still wearing the Cardinal uniform. At 2:42 p. m. the field was opened, and the overflow crowd poured in from gates leading from beneath the bleachers and in two minutes there was a fringe of spectators around the playing field.

The Center of Interest. About the same time the Browns ran out on the field for fielding practice and there was another roar of applause. Then came the entrance for Jimmy Austin, known as "Sluggers" to the infield. Austin, last Jimmy got around to first base and as Sisler took a hot ground ball, he was the first to get back to first in time for the return throw. After a few rounds Sisler withdrew and gave young Ed Callahan a chance to perform at first base.

With Sisler off the field the other players had a chance to attract a little attention. Ezzell and Ellerbe worked at third base. Gerber at short, McManus and Robertson at second base.

After his regulars had worked out Sisler sent in a rookie infield to show its stuff and Tony Regas was stationed behind the plate. He displayed a low line throw to a base, drew round after round, applause.

Just before game time Bill Johnson, president of the American League, arrived and took his place in Phil Ball's box to watch the game. The Browns were the "home" club this afternoon and appeared in their white "at home" uniforms while the Cardinals wore gray uniforms with a thin red stripe and with two cardinal birds rampant on a black belt across the breasts of the uniforms.

FIRST INNING.
CARDINALS—Blades hit a first ball pitched and was out. Gerber to Sisler. Douthitt struck a Hornsby hit the first ball pitched to him and grounded out. Gerber to Sisler. NO RUNS.
BROWNS—Tobin struck Sisler grounded out when he hit slow ball to Freigau. Sisler's bearance at the plate was followed by a big ovation. Sherdel miled the plate with two curves. Sisler fouled the third one. The fourth pitch was a ball. Sisler then fouled down the left foul line and John Lavan narrowly missed a call. Sisler struck out, missing a ball fast one. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.
CARDINALS—Blades hit a drive over the pavilion roof was by a foot. Sisler made a fine hand pick-up of Gerber's wide throw to retire Bottomley. Freigau tried to center for the first hit of the game. Myers forced Fred Ellerbe to McManus. Holm sin to left. Myers stopping at second Lavan forced Holm, Gerber to McManus. NO RUNS.
BROWNS—Williams waited ages for Sherdel's slow ball, then popped a foul to Bottom. Sherdel tossed out McManus. Williams backed up for a hand catch of Douthitt's long. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.
CARDINALS—Sherdel was out on strikes. Blades fouled. Ezzell, Williams backed up for a hand catch of Douthitt's long. NO RUNS.
